U. N. Envoy Faces Spy Probers

Hearing Date Set For Sayre

Delegate Will Testify Monday

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Attorney General Clark said today the administration will ask for tightening of the nation's espionage laws as soon as the new Congress meets next month.

★

WASHINGTON — (INS)— House spy probers today summoned Francis B. Sayre, American delegate to the United Nations, to appear Monday for questioning in their Soviet espionage investigation.

Rep. Mundt (R) S.D., acting chairman of the House unAmerican Activities committee, sent a radiogram to Sayre aboard the S.S. New Amsterdam requesting his appearance and that of his secretary, Anna Belle Newcomb.

The ship is due to dock in New York Monday. Mundt advised Sayre that if he and Miss Newcomb can not appear the same day, their presence is requested Tuesday. They will be questioned behind closed doors.

Sayre is the U.S. representative in the United Nations Trusteeship council. He is now returning from Paris, where the UN recently adjourned.

According to ex-communist Agent Whittaker Chambers, most of the stolen government documents he allegedly received from Alger Hiss for transmission to Russia in 1937 and 1938 came from the office of Sayre, then assistant secretary of state.

Hiss was Sayre's secretary and has been indicted by a federal grand jury for perjury. The grand jury did not believe Hiss' statement that he never gave the documents to Chambers.

FOUR HAD ACCESS

The committee had stated that only four people had access to the documents. They were Sayre, Hiss, Miss Newcomb, and Miss Eunice Lincoln, another secretary in Sayre's office.

Miss Lincoln already has appeared before the committee at a closed session. Committee members subsequently stated that she was not a suspect.

Meanwhile, a committee member declared that the man accused of giving "communist agents" prewar data on the then top-secret Norden bomb sight was a highly-placed ballistics expert.

The member identified him as a civilian army technician skilled in rocket ballistics and bombing tables. The army official, whose name has not been revealed by the committee, was accused by Chambers.

He allegedly gave "oral information" on secret weapons to communist agents in 1937-38-39. Mundt said he was still employed at Aberdeen proving grounds, but was now on leave because of ill health.

Seek School Dispute End

TWINSBURG, — (AP) — A new plan was advanced today for ending a dispute which has closed the Twinsburg high school for the past five days.

Oscar Shupe, a member of the newly-formed real estate owners association, said the program was worked out in Columbus yesterday with the help of state education officials.

It calls for reopening of the school after Christmas with parents agreeing to abide by the school board.

Youth Finds Advertising Gets Results

CINCINNATI, — (INS)—Advertisin' — it's wonderful!

A 25-year-old Covington, Ky., veteran, who advertised last month that he'd "marry any woman in the world for $100,000" got an answer to his ad.

William Collier said today he was "confident" he would be married by January 31 to an unidentified New York woman he is to visit tomorrow.

Collier, a freshman at John Marshall college at Huntington, W. Va., said he had several telephone conversations with the woman in the last few days, and that she had sent him transportation money.

Court Hears War Lords' Arguments

Deliberations Get Underway

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The Supreme Court begins deliberations today on whether it can interfere with death and prison sentences dealt Japanese war lords by an international military tribunal.

The court will take the momentous issue under advisement after hearing arguments by lawyers for seven convicted Japanese leaders, who say the court has the power to interfere, and by Solicitor General Philip Perlman, who says it does not.

The convicted men are seeking a Supreme Court decision voiding their sentences. But the court has ruled that it must first find out whether it has the right to enter the case.

Two of the seven appealing — Gen. Kenji Doihara and ex-Premier Koki Hirota — are under death sentences and the other five have been sentenced to long prison terms. The fate of ex-Premier Hideki Tojo, also under death sentence, and others, may be decided by the court's decision.

In the opening session of the arguments, Attorney William Logan jr., of New York, told the justices that the international tribunal was "strictly an American creation" and therefore under the court's jurisdiction.

Perlman maintains, however, that the tribunal was international and he has letters from the state department and the 11 power far eastern commission to back him up.

Perlman is slated to tell the court today that even should it order a reversal of the convictions, General Douglas MacArthur, allied commander in the Pacific, would be under no requirement to obey.

Dayton Plans Honors For Air Pioneers

DAYTON — (INS) — Dayton, cradle of aviation, observes the 45th anniversary of man's first flight by a heavier-than-air machine today at the graves of the immortal Orville and Wilbur Wright.

The brothers, who flew the first airplane a few scant feet above the sands of Kitty Hawk, N. C., Dec. 17, 1903, are buried side by side in Dayton's Woodland cemetery.

The most potent striking arm in history, the air force which resulted from that history-making flight, paused to commemorate the event. Gen. Joseph T. McNary, commanding general of the air materiel command at Wright-Patterson field, was to place a wreath on the grave in a simple, reverent ceremony.

Wounds Prove Fatal

CLEVELAND, —(INS)— A 69-year-old Cleveland woman died in Charity hospital early today after having her throat slashed on the third floor of her east side home. The victim, Bessie Farmer, was wounded in an argument with a man.

DEATH CLAIMS CHILD

TOLEDO, — (INS) — Chicken pox had claimed its first fatality in the Toledo area today. Lucas County Coroner Paul Hohly said that William Louis Slater, 9, died of the disease yesterday.

LIVING TREE—Thirty-five students at Senior high school formed a "human Christmas tree" at the concert given last night under the direction of A. LeMoine Derr. Standing in pyramid fashion, they sang familiar carols and hymns as the opening number.

Pupils Win Applause

Present Christmas Program at School

By NITA BRANSON

A near-capacity audience last night at Senior high school auditorium applauded a different kind of Christmas program.

More than 200 high school pupils, directed by A. LeMoine Derr, made the big auditorium echo with familiar carols and some of the modern Christmas tunes.

The concert opened with a boys' chorus singing, "O Come All Ye Faithful" in the background. Then, slowly the curtain opened to reveal a human Christmas tree. All over the auditorium one could hear surprised gasps as the unexpectedly beautiful pyramid arrangement of Senior students, costumed in green, wearing evergreens on their arms and holding electric candles, began singing Christmas carols.

The program continued with ensembles of boy and girl students in appropriate costumes singing modern Christmas music.

Girls dressed in Santa Claus suits popped out of big chimneys to sing about being good at

State Bonus Cut Surplus

COLUMBUS—(AP)—When Frank J. Lausche becomes governor of Ohio again on Jan. 10, he will find about $41,000,000 less in the state treasury than when he left office after his first term.

The state World War bonus accounts for most of the difference, State Finance Director H. D. Defenbacher said yesterday.

Lausche, who inherited a treasury surplus of $92,000,000 when he became governor in 1945, turned over a surplus of $101,000,000 to Republican Gov. Thomas J. Herbert after being defeated in the 1946 general election.

Herbert, unseated in turn by Lausche last Nov. 2, will leave an estimated $60,000,000 surplus next month.

Brighten A Christmas

Family of Eleven Needs Food, Clothes

Since early last November, poll-takers have been subjected to much criticism and ridicule, but if they were to interview the children of Mansfield within the next few days, they could redeem the failure of their earlier prognostications by announcing the name of Santa Claus as the kiddies' choice for the "Man of the Year."

The nine children of one family who live in the southeast section of Mansfield are no exception. While they are eagerly anticipating the arrival of the white-bearded gentleman, their parents are wondering just how to explain to the youngsters that there will be no visit from Santa Claus.

The father has been ill for a long time, and the oldest son, while employed, will have no money with which to buy much in the way of a Christmas dinner, much less toys.

In addition to the son who works, there are two boys of high school age, and others aged 13, 6, 4 and 18 months, as well as two girls whose ages are eight and, ten.

The parents know how much money is necessary to feed their large family daily, in addition to the usual expenses connected with maintaining a home.

A Christmas basket of food, plus a few toys and some clothing would certainly "Brighten-the-Christmas" for this family, just one of many for whom the News-Journal and Salvation Army are seeking assistance this year.

Further information on this family may be had by calling Mrs. Margaret Mattox at the News-Journal office, 4251-6, daily except Sundays, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Charge ECA Aid Misused

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The Economic Cooperation Administration today prepared to support its charge that recovery nations are selling Marshall plan metals to American businessmen at "high prices."

ECA officials indicated that the first of a series of reports on the scheme which brought profits to Europeans and consternation to U. S. businessmen may be made public today.

This, they said, would be the report by the commerce department on its re-check of imports of aluminum and lead—the two metals involved—from the ECA countries.

Meanwhile, however, the department disclosed that Great Britain already this year has shipped to this country ten times as much as she delivered in 1947.

Minimum Prices Set For Milk

WASHINGTON, —(AP)— Minimum producers prices for milk were set yesterday in the Dayton-Springfield, O., marketing area.

Class one milk will sell from Dec. 15 to Jan. 31, 1949, for a minimum of $4.70 per hundredweight in that area, and at $4.48 during February, 1949. The minimum price for class two milk from Dec. 15 to Jan. 31 was established at $4.40 per hundredweight and at $4.18 during February, 1949.

Egyptians Cite New Violence

Claim Israeli Troops Attack

PARIS—(UP)—The Egyptian government submitted a complaint to the United Nations Security council today charging that large forces of Jewish troops have started a new attack on some 1,500 to 2,000 Egyptian troops trapped at Faluja in southern Palestine.

The charge, which Palestine dispatches reported was denied by an Israeli military spokesman, was made as the security council met to consider Israeli's application for UN membership.

British Delegate Sir Alexander Cadogan immediately protested against considering Israeli's application at this time and asked for an indefinite delay.

French Delegate Alexandre Parodi then proposed that the security council delay one month before deciding on the application.

Argentine Delegate Rodolfo Munoz opposed a Syrian proposal to submit the question to the International Court of Justice.

3-POINT PROBLEM

The Syrian resolution, presented by Faris El-Khouri, would ask the international court to rule on three points:

1. Whether the general assembly partition resolution of Nov. 29, 1947, gave the Jews the right to form a separate state.

2. What the international status of Palestine was when the British laid down their mandate last May 15.

3. Whether the security council would be acting in conformity with the UN charter if it voted to admit Israeli.

Cadogan, in voicing British opposition to the Israeli application, charged that there were Jewish troop movements along the Trans-Jordan frontier.

He reiterated charges that Jewish troops had violated the UN truce in Palestine.

Cadogan said it would be "extremely rash" for the council to make a decision while such irregularities were going on in Palestine.

Floods Take Toll of 300

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil—(AP) More than 300 are known dead, hundreds are missing and thousands are homeless in two states of Brazil today in the wake of heavy rains which sent torrential floods over wide areas.

The rains had beat down with deadly monotony for 15 days on the states of Rio de Janeiro and Minas Gerais, topped off by a cloudburst two days ago. Authorities of both states said hundreds were injured.

Communications and transport still were disrupted today and officials of the two states were unable to assess the full toll of damage and casualties.

The state authorities asked the federal government to rush military planes to the worst-hit areas, to parachute medicines and foodstuffs for the many persons who evacuated flooded towns and sought refuge in the hills.

In many villages of the low-lying areas the entire population fled. The Brazilian Red Cross rushed help.

Shoplifter Enjoys Four-Hour Freedom

CINCINNATI, — (AP) — Nathan Evans, 54, of Savannah, Ga., was arrested on a shoplifting charge yesterday just four hours after he was released from the workhouse. He had served a 15-day sentence—for shoplifting. He was sentenced to another 30 days in the workhouse and fined $200.

Wintry Weather Returns

With the return of wintry weather, after the mild, rainy spell, Mansfield stores today reported brisk Christmas shopping business.

The mercury dipped to 25 this morning and it is due to go lower tonight, the weatherman said. Snow flurries were expected today in northern Ohio with snow or rain due late tomorrow.

Stores still have good stocks of holiday merchandise and anticipate a busy final week before Christmas.

C. M. Ross, superintendent of the Mansfield Rapid Transit, Inc., announced the company would provide 20-minute service for shoppers Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights next week when stores will remain open until 9 p. m. Buses ordinarily only run every half hour after 7 p. m.

Temperatures in Mansfield dropped 35 degrees in a little more than 24 hours. Yesterday's high was 60 at 3:30 a. m.

The five-day weather forecast for Ohio said the temperature will average about three degrees above normal. Rising temperature Sunday and colder Tuesday or Wednesday. Rain or snow beginning Saturday afternoon or night, probably changing to rain Sunday and ending early Monday with more rain or snow likely by Wednesday. Total precipitation near one inch.

RED CROSS ALERTED

Ohio valley disaster committees were alerted by the Red Cross today as the rain-swollen Ohio river near a crest of 30 feet—just 3.5 under flood stage—at East Liverpool.

Columbiana county creeks and other tributaries fed a large volume of water into the Ohio as the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers at Pittsburgh crested at 23 feet, two feet under flood stage.

The river was rising about five-tenths of a foot an hour, but colder weather and clear skies lessened danger of serious overflowing.

The state highway department said at least 24 highways in Ohio were closed because of high water.

Postal Rush Anticipated

A big rush is anticipated at the Mansfield post office next week.

Stamp sales daily exceed those of last year's purchase, but mailing continues to lag. Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford fears the postal staff won't be able to handle the final week's volume of mail. Officials planned on a 10 per cent mailing increase this year, but the slowness of forwarding packages and cards prompts handling worries.

Yesterday the post office had only 176,063 cancellations, nearly 20,000 less than for the same date last year. However, 160,000 stamps were sold yesterday, 60,000 more than on the same date last year, which indicates that a lot of Mansfielders plan to send cards, but just haven't mailed them yet.

The number of stamps sold each day of this week has exceeded the number sold on the corresponding date last year, while cancellations have consistently remained lower than those of last year.

In the 12 days preceding Christmas last year cancellations totaled 1,284,297, Ford said. Figuring a 10 per cent increase this year, the post office must expect to handle more than 900,000 cancellations in the remaining days before Christmas. Eighty-four extra men and 11 trucks are now being used by the post office as compared with 101 extra men and 13 trucks on the same date last year.

Bitter Snowstorm Foils Rescue Try

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass.—(INS)—A bitter arctic snowstorm today prevented a daring air force attempt to rescue nine airmen marooned on a Greenland ice cap.

Present plans call for the gliders to land on the ice cap, pick up the men, and then be snatched into the air by the cargo planes in war-developed "pickup" method.

KILLED BY TRAIN

BARBERTON — (INS) — Funeral services were arranged in Akron today for Charles C. Benear, a 27-year-old rubber worker, who was struck by an Erie freight train in Barberton yesterday.

7-Cent Increase Suggested

Truman Board Offers Plan

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A presidential board today recommended that the railroads give their "non-operating" employes a seven-cents an hour wage increase immediately and put them on a 40-hour week next September without loss in pay.

The non-operating employes—the clerks and mechanical workers who do not operate trains—now work 48 hours a week.

The board proposed that the seven-cent increase be retroactive to October 1.

Under the proposal, the shift to the 40-hour week would be made without any change in "take home" pay. The board calculated that it would take the equivalent of a 20 percent increase in base rates to preserve the "take home" pay unchanged.

The board estimated its proposals would cost the railroads $340,000,000 in 1949. This would include $150,000,000 for the cost of the 40-hour week from September to the end of 1949, plus the seven-cent increase for all of 1949.

The workers had asked a cut in the work week to 40 hours, without any reduction in "take home" pay, and—on top of that—a 25 cents an hour wage increase.

The so-called "non-operating" railroad workers are those who do not operate trains.

NOT BINDING

The board's recommendations, made today to President Truman, are not binding on the carriers or unions. But such recommendations made under terms of the Railway Labor act usually form the basis for dispute settlements.

The board was headed by William M. Leiserson, with David L. Cole and George Cook as members.

The board said that it felt the non-operating rail workers should get the 40-hour week because "all other interstate industries have had the 40 hour week since 1938 when the Fair Labor Standards Act was adopted."

The board said the 40 hour week "is now firmly a part of our national industrial policy."

First reaction on the union side was a comment from George M. Harrison, head of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, that the recommendations, "on the whole afford a good basis for negotiation of a settlement of the dispute."

Harrison added:

"We're disappointed that the shorter work week has been deferred until September 1, 1949. Otherwise it is a step in the right direction.

Classes End For Pupils

Pupils of Mansfield, Country Day and two county school districts today started their two-week Christmas vacations.

Actually, it will be a 16-day respite from classes since they won't be resumed until Monday, Jan. 3.

St. Peter's parochial school will end classes next Wednesday while the dates for closing of schools in the county vary.

Madison and Mifflin township pupils start their vacations today and Sharon pupils start theirs next Tuesday.

Bellville schools will close for the holidays on Wednesday while six county school districts all start vacations next Thursday.

These are Butler, Lexington, Lucas, Plymouth, Springfield, Union and Shiloh.

Bulletins

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Ex-Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers asked the Supreme Court today to overturn his conviction on a charge of inducing a one-time associate to lie to senate investigators.

Meyers' appeal said that his trial last March at which he was sentenced to from 20 months to five years imprisonment was a "disgraceful proceeding."

★

PARIS— (INS) —The Security Council rejected Israel's application for membership in the United Nations today.

The application failed by two votes of the seven required for a majority in the council.

Favorable votes were cast by the United States, Soviet Russia, the Ukraine, Argentina and Colombia. Syria voted in the negative.

Land of Plenty Shares Its Bounty

True Spirit of Christmas Shared By All Americans

(Compiled From Wire Services)

Across the nation, Americans are showing the real spirit of Christmas.

At Dayton, officials of CROP report people are giving so generously to Christmas food trains for 43 nations that they've snarled the collection schedule.

Many of the state trains have been split into sections because of the outpouring of national generosity. Original plans called for state dedications of a CROP train prior to Christmas and another dedication Christmas day at the port of departure.

But big donations now make it necessary in many states to ship a comparatively small number of cars from half a dozen points, rather than assembling one large train.

At Washington, Army Secretary Kenneth C. Royall announced Christmas clemency for 450 army and air force prisoners. He ordered that every effort be made to release the men in time for them to spend Christmas with their families.

Those who will be released are prisoners with good conduct records, and whose sentences would expire before next March 1.

At New York, a little girl who didn't give her name sent $1 to a newspaper's "neediest cases" fund with a note which said:

"I made some cookies and sold them for the money to send you."

An Indianapolis bicycle manufacturer who was about ready to scrap 200 out-moded tricycle frames changed his mind. John S. Matthews and an employe are working nights to complete the tricycles in time to distribute them to poor children for Christmas.

At Lebanon, Ore., merchants and the Elks lodge set up a Christmas tree in the grocery store occupied by the Lyle Stephans family since their house burned down Dec. 8.

The family moved to Lebanon after the youngest child died of cancer in Washington state. The other Stephans children said they don't believe in Santa, but their parents said, "We think maybe there is one."

Shelby Lists Yule Bonus Of $70,000

Cycle Employes To Get Checks

SHELBY — The Shelby Salesbook company, manufacturers of special printed business forms, announced its 1948 profit sharing results to employes today. Employes in the factory, office and sales force will participate in the annual action.

Approximately 600 employes Wednesday will receive an amount equivalent to 6½ percent of their earnings for the previous 12 months. The total amount to be distributed this year is the largest ever paid out.

SHELBY — The Shelby Cycle company will show its appreciation for value and cooperation given by its employes during the past year by giving a Christmas bonus of approximately $70,000.00 to employes who have been on the company's payroll since Dec. 1.

The bonus is an increase of 25 per cent over the figure given last year and will be paid in six monthly installments, beginning in February.

The board of directors have determined the following bonus: Employes who have been on the payroll for 12 months will receive $300; nine months will receive $225; six months will receive $150; three months will receive $75; two months will receive $50; one month will receive $25, and less than one month will receive $12.50.

RUSTLERS ACTIVE

CANTON — (AP) — Stark county sheriff's office reported the third case of cattle rustling this month. Paul Bectol of nearby North Lawrence told deputies that two Hereford cows were stolen from his herd of 57 some time last week.

Back to Work Order Ignored

COLUMBUS, — (AP) — The strile-bound American Zinc Oxide company plans to replace about 120 members of the CIO Smelter Workers union who refused to heed a back-to-work ultimatum.

Management on Monday announced it would replace any worker not on the job Dec. 15, Company officials said Wednesday only "a few" strikers returned to work.

William T. Maidens, the plant's general superintendent, said the firm would begin hiring new employes immediately. The plant normally employs about 150 production workers. All but approximately 30 continued the strike, which hinges on refusal of the union's international officers to sign non communist affidavits.

INVESTMENT HEAD DIES

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Earl E. Finley, 60-year-old head of Finley & Company, investment securities, died early today in Lakeside hospital.

Fish Painter Wants Action From 'Sitters'

MADISON, Wis. (U.P.) —Douglas Tibbitts is a painter whose subjects never sit for their portraits—they swim.

His subjects are the fish of Wisconsin—all 150 varieties of them, and he must catch them in the water to get the ture-to-life colors.

The only known way of making a fish keep its natural color is to keep it alive. Therefore, Tibbitts has his subjects "sit" in a small aquarium.

His project is to record the fish life of the state to illustrate a book, "Fish Life of Wisconsin." Arthur D. Hasler, a University of Wisconsin zoology professor, plans to write the book.

Dixiecrats Setting Up Control Group

BIRMINGHAM, Ala—(U.P.)—The States' Rights party, which won 39 electoral votes in an unsuccessful effort to defeat President Truman in the recent election, today moved to set up a "States' Rights institute" in Washington.

The Institute, party leaders said, would attempt to "provide a check on the trend toward centralization, state socialization and a dictatorship."

Pupils Give Yule Play

Senior high school students, under the direction of Earl Heasley, presented a Christmas play, "A Miracle For Mary," at the meeting of the West Fifth P-TA Tuesday night.

Heasley was presented by Albert Hamman, who was in charge of the program. Mrs. Jane Heilman, president, had charge of the opening service.

The attendance prize was won by the pupils taught by Miss Clara Patton.

Following the program refreshments were served. Christmas decorations were used. Hosts for the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Workman, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. Hamman.

P-TA members will meet again on Jan. 11.

Browns Set Sights on Buffalo's Ratterman

All-America Title Game Set Sunday

CLEVELAND — (AP) — George (The Kid) Ratterman will be the Cleveland Browns' primary target in their All-America conference championship playoff with the Buffalo Bills here Sunday.

Cleveland Coach Paul Brown has a new impression of Ratterman after watching him spark the Bills to victory over the Baltimore Colts in the eastern division playoff last Sunday.

"For the first time I saw Ratterman play the type of game I had often heard about," Brown said. "If he repeats the performance against us, it will be a different football game than when we played the Bills before."

BENCHED ONCE

The former Notre Dame star has been the subject of much criticism this season. Prior to the Bills' game with the Browns in Cleveland two months ago, George was benched by Coach Red Dawson for what the latter termed an indifferent performance a week earlier.

But the Bills now have a new Ratterman, according to Brown—a quarterback who is directing the team from the field of action.

"At the half of that game Sunday, I made the observation that it was a game between a good running team and a good passing team," Brown said, referring to the Bills as the runners. "Then in the second half it was just reversed. This boy Ratterman put on a real show.

"I discussed the game with Dawson after it was over, and he told me they left the offensive strategy pretty much up to Ratterman. He still didn't throw as much as I thought he should have, but on the passes that were called he gave the impression of having the situation under control. He was cool and seemed to pass only when he was reasonably sure the attempt would be successful."

BROWNS FAVORED

The Browns, who have been installed as 17-point favorites by the local betting fraternity, wound up heavy work yesterday. From now on they'll engage only light drills.

Title holders since the conference began operating three years ago, the Browns can become the first team in pro football to win three successive championships and the first to go through the regular season and a title game without a defeat. They also can equal the major league consecutive victory string of 18 games.

Joe DiMaggio Wins Coveted '48 RBI Title

CHICAGO — (AP) — The runs-batted-in title, a distinction ballplayers prize as highly as the batting championship, was awarded officially to Joe Di Maggio of the New York Yankees today by American league averages for 1948.

Di Maggio, adding to his home run and total base titles, drove in 155 runs last season, leading the circuit in that department for the second time in his career. He was number one RBI-man in 1941 when he drove in 125 runs.

Lanky Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, the league's batting champion with a .369 average, took the slugging title with a percentage of .615, just 17 points better than Di Maggio's 598 mark. Tommy Henrich of the Yankees ranked third in slugging, which is computed on the percentage of extra base hits, with .554.

STEPHENS SECOND

Runnerup to Di Maggio in runs batted in was chunky Vern Stephens of the Red Sox with 137, while Williams was third with 127.

Williams, probably the most feared hitter in the league, again drew the most bases on balls, 126, but that total was 36 less than the amount of free tickets he collected in 1947. Eddie Joost, bespectacled Philadelphia shortstop, coaxed enemy hurlers for 119 walks and teammate Ferris Fain was third with 113.

Lou Boudreau had the best eye at the plate among regular players, striking out only nine times in 152 games.

Buckeye Forward Is Out For Rest Of Cage Season

COLUMBUS, — (UP) — The Ohio State university basketball team left today for a 12-day, four-game western trip minus one of its star forwards.

Coach Tippy Dye said forward Bob Winter was ineligible for the remainder of the season because of a low scholastic grade he received for the fall quarter.

Dye added, however, that the squad re-acquired the services of forward Gene Melzer and guard Fred Taylor who had been ineligible because of scholastic standings.

The Bucks have a clean slate so far this season with two wins out of two starts.

They open the western trip Saturday night at Norman, Okla., against Oklahoma; travel to Berkeley, Calif., for two games Dec. 21 and 22; and wind up in Denver, Col., on Dec 27.

Hectic Finish Marks Contest

NEW YORK, —(AP)— Adolph Rupp, Kentucky's famed basketball coach, figured in a disturbance at Boston last night as Kentucky's NCAA champs trimmed Holy Cross, 51-48.

The incident occurred near the end when an unidentified spectator struck Wah Wah Jones, a Kentucky player, with what apperaed to be a rolled up paper bag. Jones went for the spectator who started throwing punches.

Rupp came to Jones' defense and was struck several glancing blows before police stopped the fray.

A sellout crowd of 13,909 saw the hectic finish. It was Kentucky's fifth in a row.

Ontario Warriors Battle In First 'Crucial' Game

The first of three consecutive "crucial" games for the Ontario Warriors will come tonight when they invade Plymouth for a Richland county league basketball tussle.

Ontario has disposed of the three bottom teams in the loop and will get down to serious business in the next trio of contests. After Plymouth tonight comes Lexington next Tuesday and Bellville next Thursday.

Plymouth has won two of three games while Ontario is undefeated in four starts, three in league play.

Other games tonight send Lexington to Lucas, Butler to Bellville and Union to Shiloh. Lexington is tied with Ontario with a 3-0 league record while Bellville has 2-1, Lucas and Union have 1-2 and Shiloh and Butler are winless.

Louis Waiting For Good Foe

PATERSON, N.J., — (INS) — Heavyweight champion Joe Louis settled back to await the emergence of a "suitable" challenger for a June title bout today after completing his exhibition tour.

The Brown Bomber wound up his cross-country exhibition stint last night against Pat Comiskey, veteran Paterson heavyweight.

Louis held the upper hand throughout the six round bout before 5,127 fans at Paterson Armory, but the champion sported discolorations below both eyes at the finish.

The heavyweight king admitted Comiskey is a "good puncher." He predicted Comiskey would give Ezzard Charles a tougher fight than Joe Baksi.

The Paterson heavyweight is scheduled to meet Charles in an elimination bout at Cleveland Jan. 13.

Helen Civay's Big 254 Is Feature of Pin Work

Helen Civay of Mansfield Beverage turned out what was perhaps the best bit of bowling in the city last night as she fired a brilliant 254 single game in the Women's A league. Unfortunately it followed games of 135 and 188 to give her a 577 series total.

Arlene Peters was runnerup but far behind with 162-175-178—515 score. Florence Velzy had 502, Sue Humphrey, 501, and Elnora Kanz, 500. Florence Handwork had a 201 game and 493 series.

Paced by Civay's brilliant mark, the Mansfield Beverage team thumped league-leading Ohio Sport Center in three straight games. Sport Center still holds a three-game margin over three other teams tied for second spot.

★

Jim Dunn of Ringside set the pace in the Commercial B league with a 180-177-236—593. John Waldman of the Lions club would have beaten him out had he gotten off to a better start. Waldman led off with 158, then spurted for 222 and 203 and a 583 series.

Cliff Forsythe of Ringside was runnerup with 187-217-185—589, followed by Art Hilborn, 573; Alex Zacharzuk, Dearman's Transportation, 562, and L. Luedy of Fancee Brand Foods, 560.

Dearman's won two games out of three from Oak Park Tavern to gain a game on Mansfield Rug and Linoleum which dropped two of three to Ringside.

It was announced last night that the B league would roll both Christmas and New Year's weeks.

★

Jake Streitmater pounded out a 234 opening game and a 557 series in the Tappan Stove league. Joe Klier and Ed Rogers were tied for runner-up with 550,s. Bill Mabee had 522 and Clayton Donnan, 520.

★

Buckeye Storage and Smoke Shop recorded sweeps over A. B. Grafton and Al's Kicks to hold onto their one-two rating in the Amvet league at the Richland Recreation. The former has a three-game lead.

Gene Beveridge, rolling in the leadoff spot for the leaders, had 166-246-169—579. Other top scores were: Joe Rizzo, Grafton, 158-198-161—517; Stan Fox, Mansfield Hardware, 179-165-149—493, and Bill Keplar, Smoke Shop, 160-193-147—500.

Lead in the Amvet Auxiliary league went to Virginia Gadfield, Kallmerten and Baer, with 132-196-101—429. Drive-in-ette's Kate Miller and Marie Zimmerman had 415 and 404 respectively.

★

Mary Smoot, Westinghouse No. 2, took individual honors in the Women's Industrial league, with 161-128-151—440. Chris Au, Mansfield Tire, trailed with 135-171-126—432. Other scores were: Eileen McBride, Westinghouse No. 1, 425; Gladys Imhoff, Dominion, 423, and Evelyn Schinder, Tappan No. 3, 420.

League-leading Dominion lost two of three games to Tappan No. 3. Viola Knapp had a single game of 177.

National Football Boss Feels 'His' Game Is Only One

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — National football league commissioner Bert Bell would like to make it plain today that the Philadelphia Eagles and the Chicago Cardinals game in Philadelphia Sunday will not merely decide the loop championship.

"The game," according to Bell, "is between the two best professional teams in the world, and will decide the football championship of the world."

In this manner, the commissioner maintained his steadfast policy of totally ignoring the existence of any other professional football organization, despite recent reports that Alexis Thompson, owner of the Eagles was tendering another olive branch.

Bell made it plain, however, that he still feels the same about there being only "one" professional league—the National.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3 The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Truman Begins New 'War' Against States' Rights Democrats

Will Demand Rights Bill Enactment

Dixiecrats Start Planned Defense

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— President Truman has begun a new campaign in his war with States' Rights Democrats on a scale which would revolutionize political alignments in this country. Political observers believed it more likely that the new campaign would end in compromise.

Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday he would ask the new Congress to enact the 10-point civil rights program against which much of the South rebelled this year. His statement followed by only a few hours announcement by States' Rights leaders in Birmingham, Ala., that they had just begun to fight.

Gov. Ben Laney of Arkansas, chairman of a States' Rights party conference in Birmingham, put opposition to Mr. Truman on grounds that the party: "Abhors the attempt to adulterate our principles of government with socialistic ideas or the regimentation of business or restrictions of the rights and activities of any individual."

That is angry language. It appears to widen the gap between the States' Rights bolters and the Truman administration. But the nub of their dispute lies among the 10 civil rights proposals made by the President to Congress last Feb. 2. They were recommendations for.

1. A permanent civil rights commission, a joint congressional committee on civil rights and a civil rights division in the justice department.

2. Strengthening of existing civil rights statutes.

3. Anti-lynch legislation.

4. Protection against intimidation of voters and abolition of the poll tax.

5. A fair employment practices act.

6. Prohibition of discrimination in interstate transportation facilities.

7. Home-rule and presidential suffrage for the District of Columbia.

8. Statehood for Hawaii and Alaska and more self-government for island possessions.

9. Equalization of opportunities for residents of the United States to become naturalized citizens.

10. Settlement of evacuation claims of Japanese-Americans.

Pastor Backs Strike Action

COLUMBUS, —(INS)—A committee was prepared today to hand over $96 for food and clothing for striking CIO Mine, Mill and Smelter workers at the American Zinc Oxide company plant in Columbus.

The Rev. John D. Walker, pastor of the Bethel AME church joined seven unionists who attacked newspapers, Columbus police, the Franklin county sheriff's office and the county courts for allegedly trying to break the strike.

The Progressive Party of Ohio joined the union, the League of Women Shoppers and the committee on Civil Rights in sponsoring the meeting.

Millersburg Woman, 75, Dies In Akron

MILLERSBURG — Mrs. Cora Schott, 75, local resident until joining her son, Hubert, in Akron 13 months ago, died at 4 a. m. today in his home there. More than a year ago she suffered a paralytic stroke and complications were blamed for her death.

Her husband, William E., died in 1922. Also surviving, besides the son, is a sister, Mrs. Fred Caxton, of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Schott was a member of the Millersburg Presbyterian church and the Pythian Sisters lodge here, in addition to the Order of Eastern Stars in Cochoton and the Rose of Shrine lodge in Zanesville.

Services will be at 2 p. m. Monday in the Hunter funeral home here with Rev. Paul McKay, Akron Presbyterian pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Millersburg cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday afternoon and evening.

Pupils Win Applause

Christmas time, and three girls sang the Spike Jones hit, "All I Want for Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth." The trio of singers displayed two "blacked-out" front teeth.

Three girls costumed in winter outfits played "Winter Wonderland" on accordions. The musicians were Shirley Lay, LaVonne Bonecutter and Joyce Bell. They danced as they played.

Finally the entire 222 members of the senior and junior choirs took their places on tiered risers and sang "Jingle Bells" and "'Twas the Night Before Christmas" in original versions arranged by Derr, closing with a group of sacred Christmas songs and ending the concert with the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah."

The "Hallelujah Chorus" was interpreted by the students with reverent enthusiasm.

The program closed as it began with the boys' chorus singing off stage, while a group of girl students pinned the letters, "Merry Christmas, Good Night" on the red velvet curtain

The entire performance was attractively staged, cleverly costumed and ably sung

Crash Kills One

CINCINNATI, — (UP) — Two Waynesville, O., men were killed near here early today when the lumber truck in which they were riding crashed into a loading platform. The victims were identified as George Peterson, about 50, and his son, Roy, 30.

Modern Pilgrims Reverse Path of Their Ancestors

PLYMOUTH, ENGLAND, — (AP) — A new band of Pilgrims has landed at Plymouth.

It's a different date—1948 instead of 1620—and a different setting—balmy southern England instead of Massachusetts' rocky shores, but now, just as then, the modern-day Pilgrims are seeking home and happiness.

They are the wives and children of the United States navy men based here in this old seaport aboard the cruiser Columbus and the store ship Hamul. Backtracking the trail of the little Mayflower, they've set up an American colony.

All told, about 15 American families have settled down in the town since Uncle Sam decided it would be all right if officers and men stationed overseas indefinitely had a little home life.

Navy Lieutenant N. C. Watson, personnel officer of the Columbus, took charge. He found quarters for 15 families. He's still hunting for more.

Here for more than a month now, the "Pilgrim" wives and mothers already have become accustomed to vastly different living conditions from those at home.

For its size, Plymouth perhaps suffered greater bomb damage than any other city in England.

Plymouth has been rebuilding slowly. In the new quarter just outside the city, and in the old overlooking the basin from which the original Pilgrims sailed, the American colonists have found homes.

The wives agree that rationing in England isn't nearly as tough as they anticipated—even though some items—particularly fruits—cost more than they had expected.

Cookie Sale Date Set

Members of the Mansfield Girl Scout council set March 5 to March 12 as the week for the annual Girl Scout cookie sale at a meeting yesterday. The week of the cookie sale is national Girl Scout birthday week.

Mrs. Clarence Hein was appointed chairman of the cookie sale and Mrs. William Osborn, assistant chairman. More than 10,000 cookies are expected to be sold by Mansfield Girl Scouts during the sale.

It also was announced at the meeting that the second, annual Girl Scout meeting will be held in February.

Mrs. Joy Herbert, commissioner of Girl Scouts, was in charge of the meeting.

Rails' Grade Work Lauded

The Pennsylvania and Erie railroads were commended by city council last night for their work in repairing several of the grade crossings in the city.

Council unanimously approved an informal resolution offered by Councilman Clifford Knarr praising the railroads for their action.

The Pennsylvania railroad recently repaired grade crossings at East Fifth, Orange and North Main streets. The Erie completed repair of its Bowman street crossing this year.

Slaying Victim Leaves $128,000

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Probate court records showed today that Columbus tavern owner Earl C. Ambrose, shot and killed in a holdup last July by killers Robert Murl Daniels and James C. West, left an $128,068 estate.

His widow, Mrs. Jane A. Ambrose, was named administrator of the estate composed of about $39,000 in cash, $29,400 in scattered savings accounts and $29,500 in real estate.

Daniels, who bragged of his part in killing six persons, is scheduled to die in the Ohio electric chair Jan 3 West was killed in a gun battle with police near Van Wert last July 23

Wildcat Strikers Halt Construction

WARREN.— (AP) —Construction of new coke ovens for Republic Steel corporation was halted yesterday by a strike of 100 AFL structural iron workers. Jack Whitney, president of the Trumbull County Building Trades council, said the strike was a "wildcat action." The strikers asked for a 25 cent hourly boost in pay to $2.50.

Probe Air Crash

GREENVILLE, S. C. — (U.P.) — Air force investigators today questioned three survivors in the crash of a C-82 "flying box-car" near here yesterday to determine what caused the accident, which killed four air force fliers.

REDS KILL SOLDIER

BERLIN—(AP)—A British army spokesman said today one British soldier was killed and eight others captured by Russian troops when they accidentally crossed into the Soviet zone Wednesday night. The eight soldiers still are held by the Russians.

State Asks For Survey

Storm Brewing Over Ohio Toll Turnpike

REED SMITH

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A new storm over Ohio toll roads already is brewing a fortnight before the legislature meets.

Sen. Ralph A. Winter (R-Medina) said today he will introduce an Ohio turnpike bill early in the general assembly session starting Jan. 3.

His plan to authorize an Ohio network of privately-built roads, like the famed Pennsylvania Turnpike, passed the senate in 1946 but was mired in the house of representatives.

Petroleum and trucking interests which led the fight against Winter are getting their roadblocks ready. They will be joined actively by farm groups.

Winter wants Ohio to have modern four-lane, limited-access roads linked to the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

That super-highway stretching 160 miles between Pittsburgh and Harrisburg is being lengthened. The Pennsylvania Turnpike commission says it will run 320 miles from Philadelphia to the Ohio border before the end of 1950.

"The only way Ohio can get super-highways soon enough," Winters said, "is through privately-financed toll roads. The state simply doesn't have enough money to build them and also properly operate its highway system."

State highway department reports bear him out. Director Earl Reeb said 20 per cent probably should be added to earlier estimates of a minimum of $1,292,519,000 to properly condition Ohio's badly battered highways.

The department will have about $100,000,000 this year, including federal grants, for highway purposes. And Reeb says his department is spending most of its money for high cost maintenance instead of new construction.

What the state should have first, he says, is a complete study of its present-day road requirements. To that end, he has just contracted with the Automotive Safety Foundation, Washington, for such a survey.

The study, authorized through the Ohio Postwar Program commission, leaves the door open for Gov.-Elect Frank J. Lausche, who takes office Jan. 10 to cancel the survey on 90-day notice.

Sales Tax Revenue Off

State sales tax collections in Richland county during the preholiday week continue to lag behind collections for corresponding weeks last year, a report from the state treasurer's office showed today.

For the week ended Dec. 4 collections totaled $40,998 compared with $45,822 collected during the first week in December last year.

For the entire year, however, collections continued ahead of 1947. Receipts to date this year aggregate $1,524,537, compared with $1,347,218 collected during a similar period last year.

Gorman-Rupp Fetes Workers

Employes of the Gorman-Rupp company and their wives, husbands or escorts will gather at Richland Recreation Center tonight as guests of the company at its fourteenth annual Christmas dinner party.

Roast turkey tops the menu and a variety program featuring employes has been arranged. The Esquires will play for dancing.

As in other years, the company will distribute profit-sharing checks and Christmas remembrances to wives and women employes.

Bellville Fire Hits Garage

BELLVILLE — Fire last night burned out the east wall of the Harden Motor Sales building here, causing damages estimated at $2,000, Fire Chief W. D. Warner said.

Warner said the fire was discovered by passers-by about 6 p. m., shortly after the store had been closed for the day. Bellville's two fire engines and 14 men answered the call and the fire was under control in about 15 minutes, the chief said.

Completion of the clean-up job required about an hour, Warner said. Five used cars in the garage were removed in time to escape damage, the chief said.

The east wall where most of the damage occurred is 50 feet long Cause of the fire has not been determined, the chief said.

Rescue Teams Abandon Hope

ST. MEINARD, IND., — (INS) — Four men trapped in a cave-in at the Christmas coal mine near St. Meinard were believed dead today as rescuers dug fruitlessly in the earth fall.

Searchers reported they saw the legs of three of the men but "no sign of life." At dawn today officials abandoned all hope that the four trapped men might have survived

Eight other men who were also trapped while working in the slope mine escaped safely. They dug into the side of a hill and fled yesterday when the cave-in occurred while they removed steel rail about a quarter of a mile from the mouth of the shaft.

Order Arms Seizure

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Cleveland police were under orders today to "seize" all illegal weapons" as a precaution after it was reported that policy world bombings had stirred numbers men to take up arms.

Troop 46 Host To Brownies

Brownie Schout Troop 66 and their leader, Mrs. Sam Berman, were guests of Girl Scout Troop 46 at a Christmas party Thursday at Newman school.

Christmas carols opened the program which featured games and contests. Prizes were won by Ruth Siwek, Gerry Hanusz, and Rita Shoulders.

Refreshments were served at tables decorated with caroling angels. Cookies served were made by girls working on their second class badges.

Leaders of Troop 46 are Mrs. Walter McEvoy, Mrs Philip Lodge, and Mrs. Michael Siwek.

Grange to Hold Christmas Party

Members of Madison Grange will hold a Christmas party Monday at 6:30 p. m. at the Veterans hall in Lucas, it was announced today by the Grange secretary, Mrs. Richard Fisher

The party will open with a covered dish supper, followed by a gift exchange Santa Claus will distribute treats for all children under 14 years of age and there will be a program of songs recitations and vocal solos by the children.

Serving on the arrangements committee are Mrs Harry Clever, chairman, Mrs Nick Bauer, Mrs. John McPhern and Mrs Dale Lutz

Members are requested to take their table service!

Divorce Cases Out-Temporarily

MIDDLETOWN — (AP) — The divorce rate in Butler county will reach the zero mark for a two-week period beginning next Saturday.

Judges Fred B. Cramer and P. P. Bolli of Common Please Court will observe their annual custom of hearing no divorce cases during that Christmas holiday period. And they believe the custom, started about eight years ago, is paying dividends.

O. K. ATHLETIC PLANT

KENT — (AP) — Trustees of Kent State university have approved plans for a $1,000,000 men's physical education plant to be completed by the winter of 1950.

Christmas Candy Boils Over, So Does Store Management

Firemen caught the spirit of Christmas yesterday when ten pounds of boiling candy batter "went up in smoke" at the Park Avenue Candies, 56 Park avenue west.

Said Capt. C. O. Hall of Central station: "Disappointment to Santa Claus was the only damage."

Central and No. 2 station firemen answered the alarm around 5:30 p. m. The candy shop management, still "boiling" a bit today, said the pay telephone in the candy shop failed to work even with two nickels and that it was necessary to run two doors down the street to call the fire department.

Firemen were called out when one kettle, containing the candy batter, boiled over on the stove.

At 3 a. m. today, one engine from Central station was dispatched to Fifth avenue and Ashland road where a house was reported on fire. Firemen said it turned out to be a false alarm.

2,964 Train Under Vets' Program

606 Men Attending Colleges In Area

A total of 2,964 veterans are taking training under the GI Bill of Rights in nine counties under the jurisdiction of the Mansfied Veterans Administration office, records revealed today.

On-the-job training accounts for 1,159 of the men taking advantage of the program, while 955 veterans are taking on-the-farm training. There are 606 veterans in educational institutions in the district. The majority of those men are studying at Kenyon college and at Ashland college under the GI bill.

During November the Mansfield VA office interviewed 567 veterans who are under the training program.

In the 38-county region of Northern Ohio under the jurisdiction of the Cleveland VA office, 61,385 veterans are participating in the education and job-training program.

Subsistence payments to these veterans totaled $4,230,049 in November. Payments to educational institutions for tuition and supplies amounted to $2,197,264.

Another 67,770 veterans received $3,078,672 in compensation and pensions last month Total disbursements for all VA activities in the 38 counties was $10,421,662.

Sheriff Finds Water Easily Stops Escape

GEORGETOWN— (U.P.) —Sheriff Dwight Clemons of Brown county has revealed how he and a deputy thwarted a jail break with a bucket of water. Sheriff Clemons and his deputy, Tom Paul, had overheard talk of a possible escape. But they were unable to determine just which prisoners were planning the break.

Tuesday night they secreted themselves outside the jail. The Sheriff hid across the street with a strong flashlight. Paul hid under a jail window, armed with a bucket of water. Soon, the sheriff said, prying noises were heard as the would-be fugitives attempted to force a window with a piece of lumber.

When the prisoners had broken the window, Paul arose from his crouching position and flooded the men with water. Clemons and his deputy rushed inside the jail. All was serene. Every inmate was asleep.

Knowing the men they wanted would be wet, the officers pulled the bed covers from every prisoner. Eventually they discovered two dripping "sleepers"—Robert Mack, 18, of Cincinnati, held as an auto theft suspect, and a youth from Ripley, O., held for juvenile court authorities

Daily $300,000 Farm Fire Loss Forecast On Holidays

Fire losses on farms during the holiday season will run over $300,000 a day throughout the nation, County Agent C N McGrew predicted today as he cautioned farmers to take steps against fire threats.

McGrew said that figure represents the amount of daily fire damage on farms during last year's holiday season, according to figures of the Fire Protection Institute.

The county agent called on farmers to make repairs where the repairs would eliminate fire hazards. He also said that "a farmer always should be prepared for the remote chance he might have a small fire. The best way to prepare for fire is to arm your farm with approved fire extinguishers."

He said three things are the answer to the fire threat. "Work will eliminate fire hazards, caution will make you careful and approved fire extinguishers are the weapons."

Galion Church Gets Publicity

GALION — On the front cover of the December issue of Pulpit Digest is a picture of the Peace Lutheran church of Galion as submitted by the pastor, Rev. Philip E. Auer, as well as a story of the history of the church, presented in the magazine.

Dedication of the Deagan chimes and the centennial observance of the church in 1947, are given considerable space in the article. It also describes the remodeling of the original brick edifice, constructed in 1875, 28 years after the organization of the congregation in 1847.

The remodeling was accomplished at a cost of $18,000, and in 1935 increased Sunday school enrollment made the construction of a $35,000 parish house necessary.

Would 'Job Evaluation' Be Helpful?

JUST WHAT would be accomplished by such a "job evaluation" survey as is now being talked about by members of city council's salary and finance committees is not entirely clear as any "job evaluation," however expert it might be, would be unlikely to prove satisfactory to individual employes who are inclined to do their own evaluating.

Elective, as well as appointive employes of the city deserve consideration as pay increases are considered, although elective officials are not permitted salary raises during the term to which they were elected.

In case of the mayor, however, a salary increase from $4,500 to $5,300 became effective the first of this year, upon Mayor Vaughn's entry into his second term, and the service-safety director is now paid $4,000 a year, while the city auditor's salary is $3,800—or $1,000 a year less than the recently increased pay of the chiefs of police and fire departments.

It seems quite reasonable that variations in pay be based on differences in requirements and responsibilities of positions held, but how this can be done in a way that will be satisfactory to all persons concerned presents a puzzling problem to the finance committee of council which must see to it that funds are made available for other municipal requirements, in addition to salaries and wages.

Subject of considerable discussion is the advisability of making a further increase in the mayor's salary in advance of the next election, argument being that persons of greater competence might thus be attracted as candidates for that office—but this is a matter which had best enter into the whole problem of fitting salaries, wages and other municipal costs to the amount of tax money that can be made available for these purposes.

Canton Banning Some 'Comic Books'

OVER IN CANTON, instead of just talking about objectionable "comic books," they're DOING something about it. The way they're doing it may interest the little group in Mansfield that has been discussing this subject but not accomplishing much of anything up to this time.

The approach in Canton followed a method employed in Akron and Massillon—selection of 42 objectionable books, followed by action by city council banning the sale of those books after 30 days. Information is to the effect that Canton's wholesale news agencies agreed to co-operate in suppressing the questionable books, and it was announced that no ordinance would be necessary as the proposed action is sufficiently covered in Section 13035 of the Ohio General Code.

It appears that Canton's city solicitor is assigned an active part in the procedure, not only notifying dealers of books on which the sale is being banned, but also keeping them in touch with any changes that may be made in the list from time to time.

This reference to the Canton situation is merely for the purpose of giving information that something CAN be done to stop the flood of injurious "comic books" coming into Mansfield—if enough people are sufficiently interested to pursue the subject further.

Pryor Named To Welfare Board

AN EXAMPLE of a busy man being willing to give some of his time to uncompensated public service is seen in consent by Millard H. Pryor to serve on the Richland County Child Welfare board, as successor to John H. Finefrock who has resigned after having served twenty years on the board.

During his nine years of residence in Mansfield Mr. Pryor has evidenced commendable interest in civic affairs and his recent study of problems of child care, as a member of the Child Welfare Council, will be helpful in acquainting him with operations of the board to which he has been appointed as the representative of Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer.

Always Plenty of Beans, It Seems

IF IT IS TRUE, as the strategists profoundly state, that "an army travels on its stomach," an old soldier will tell you that battles are won on beans. The combat field ration of the past war, for American troops, was found in a collection of cans known as C-ration. The labels on the cans did not, in most cases, say anything about beans, but as often as not the beans were there, whether in distinctive form or in stew.

Now the quartermaster corps has perfected an improved version, to be known as the C-4 ration. It offers a variety of six main dishes, compared with the three found in the old standard C-ration. There are such things as pork sausage patties with gravy, chicken and vegetables, beef stew, hamburgers, corned beef hash, spaghetti with meat sauce—and beans.

Raw recruits may be pleased by the prospect of sitting in some sylvan glen, munching sausage patties with gravy. But a veteran with C-ration experience is not likely to go far out of his way to taste the new C-4 model.

Problem That Was Overlooked

IN 1919, at the making of the peace treaty which ended the first World war, the peacemakers failed to realize that the future of Russia was as big a problem as that of Germany. Now Germany is broken into fragments, and no one can be charged with overlooking the importance of Russia.

Perhaps future historians will find that some other question, as important as the Russian one was in 1919, is likewise being passed over too lightly today. For instance, what about China?

A highway patrolman, in a recent speech, revealed that ability to spell is one of the requirements for applicants seeking positions on the state patrol—which seems to eliminate high school graduates unless they take up spelling of their own accord.

What Some Other People Are Saying

MARIO A. ESQUIVAL, Costa Rican ambassador to the U. S: "Democracy is being preserved in America and brute strength will no longer prevail in the new world."

* * *

REP. RANKIN (D-Miss), member of the House Un-American Activities committee: "I think if the committee goes on we may open a whole Pandora's box of treason and espionage."

* * *

ROBERT G. DUNLOP, president of the Sun Oil company: "An excess profits tax would curb the industrial expansion required if America is to prosper. . . . It would have the same effect as a law directly prohibiting further industrial expansion."

It Just Won't Go Away.

Looking Back

Cartels Seek Comeback

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON—Just what our future policy is to be in regard to the breaking-up, or deconcentration, of the giant industrial and financial combines in both Germany and Japan that worked hand-in-glove with those governments in their aggressive war is left in confusion as a result of recent developments.

The fear that this government is backing away from the pledge in its war aims to dissolve the great German monopolies, or cartels, prompted an inquiry at President Truman's latest press conference.

The President replied that the cartels would never come back as long as he was in the White House.

On the day before this statement a commission appointed by Kenneth C. Royall, secretary of the army, had left for Germany to investigate the de-cartelization program there as a result of a detailed report submitted to him about circumstances of the abandonment last March by General Lucius D. Clay of the program as it affected heavy industry, the core of the problem.

This seemed to indicate that the administration recognized the protests over that from many quarters.

The same day of the President's statement about cartels some news came in about Japan. The state department revealed that the United States had abandoned the detailed policy blueprint for de-concentration in Japan, known as FEC 230, which has been followed by General Douglas MacArthur.

The department released a statement made to the Far Eastern Commission by General Frank McCoy, U. S. member, which was to explain and clarify the action of our government in suspending its participation in discussions of FEC 230 before the commission, which he revealed had been some months before.

He said our government's action had led to certain questions both in the commission and among the Japanese people. Subsequently the suspension of FEC 230 was approved by the commission, 10 to 1, with Russia alone voting against it.

General McCoy explained that the original deconcentration plan now is "outmoded." General McArthur, he said, has proceeded rapidly and the Japanese now have adequate anti-trust and fair trade practice laws so that it is possible to reconsider standards used in dissolving some of the combines still existing and to change emphasis because of changing conditions.

* * *

Powerful Opposition

WHILE General McCoy insisted that the de-concentration policy would not be affected and would be carried to completion, this action by the United States has disturbed many who were interested in achieving real democracy in Japan by breaking up the Zaibatsu, or money clique, as it is called, which is the interlocking financial and industrial ruling oligarchy embraced in a few big families previously tied in with the government. It is clever, able, and powerful.

This development in Japan, coming along with abandonment of the German heavy industry decartelization program seemed to some to suggest a pattern that would fit very nicely into the objectives of those who are calling for re-building Germany and Japan. Russia is the excuse.

Russia has offered the pretext both in Europe and the far East that can be exploited by big international financial and industrial interests that want to see a restoration of the pre-war status quo in which German and Japanese business and finance played their parts.

How effective de-concentration may be then can not be forecast now. It may be determined by developments in the bigger game, both business and diplomatic.

The Nation Today

Who Deserves Credit?

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—There's a little war going on over the way the spy case has been handled.

Two government agencies have worked on the case: the department of justice and the House un-American activities committee.

The war is between Rep. Nixon, California Republican member of the committee, and Zechariah Chafee jr., Harvard law professor.

In a very long letter to the Washington Post Chafee is critical on the way the committee handled the case.

And in a very long letter to the same newspaper Nixon is not only critical of Chafee for being critical but is critical of the justice department's handling of the case, too.

At this moment the whole case revolves around certain state department papers which Whittaker Chambers says Alger Hiss, who once worked in that department, took for a Soviet spy ring.

In connection with those papers Hiss has been indicted on two charges of perjury by a New York federal grand jury investigating the case.

Neither the justice department nor the committee was able to pry any of those papers out of Chambers.

A private lawyer, Hiss' lawyer, got some of them out of him when he asked Chambers if he had any evidence to back his charges that Hiss had been a communist (Hiss is suing Chambers for $75,000 for making that charge.)

Yet, Chambers had been telling his story to government officials and the justice department since 1939. And last summer he told it openly at a public hearing of the committee.

* * *

Didn't Dig Deeply.

BOTH the committee members and the justice department asked him if he had any factual evidence to support his charges. He told the committee no. Justice department agents say they got the same answer.

In his criticism on the committee, Chafee asks: "Does the committee deserve much credit for the abstracted government documents?

"If it had not been for (Hiss' lawyer) the committee apparently would have discovered nothing."

Chafee says the committee members are a "stupid bunch of investigators" if they didn't find out about the documents before or, if they did, they were "delinquent" in letting Chambers keep them secret so long.

Nixon replies that "the committee did not know about the documents. . . . However, there are nine members of the committee and it has five investigators.

"The department of justice with its thousands of agents did not discover the existence of the documents despite the fact that Mr. Chambers made charges concerning Mr. Hiss and others to administration officials over nine years ago.

"Would Mr. Chafee say they, too, were a 'stupid bunch of investigators'?"

It's still puzzling why the justice department and the committee didn't dig harder into Chambers to get out of him something besides his own mere say-so—something that might be considered evidence.

And it seems certain the papers never would have been produced by Chambers at all if the committee hadn't set off a string of events by calling Chambers to tell his story to the committee publicly.

Although the committee had nothing to do directly with the first batch that came out, Chambers came up with the rest when the committee ordered him—by subpoena to hand over any more in his possession.

Royall Disapproves War-Crimes Trials

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—It isn't being advertised, but one high official who frowned on the prosecution of Jap war lords was the top man in the Army department—Secretary of the Army Kenneth Royall.

When Joseph B. Keenan, patriotic attorney who spent two years of his life as war-crimes prosecutor in Tokyo, reported to Royall the other day, the secretary of the Army stated flatly that he was dead opposed to war-crimes prosecution.

"Suppose something should happen in Berlin to cause a war," argued Royall. "The Russians might shoot General Clay as a war criminal—if we set this precedent."

"They probably would," replied Keenan. "Those are the risks that brave men take.

"But," continued Keenan, "when a boy of twenty is taken from his home through no fault of his, and put on a transport, and sails up to Okinawa and then is told by his commander to take that island, though he may not want to go at all and though he knows his chances of coming out alive are almost nil—then I say that the war lords who start such a war must be punished.

"It was no fault of millions of American boys that they had to leave their homes. It was the fault of a little group of men sitting safely in Tokyo who decreed that Japan was to rule the Pacific. And when we make an example of them," concluded Keenan, "there will be less chance of war in the future."

Note—Secretary of the Army Royall defended the Nazi saboteurs in court when they were tried as spies during the war. He has also done his best to discourage the war-crimes trials at Nuremburg. However, this is the first time Royall put himself on record so bluntly regarding a policy which has been officially adopted by the U. S. government.

Reforming California.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN would like to reform California's confusing cross-filing system which permits a candidate to run on both the Republican and Democratic tickets—which was how Gov. Earl Warren swept the state in his race for the governorship.

Chatting privately with Oakland's live-wire Mayor Joe Smith, the President left Warren's name out of it, but he called for a "stronger two-party system" in California.

"A strong two-party system is essential to democratic government," the President lectured.

Mayor Smith called at the White House to air some local problems. For one thing, he wanted the President to know that the Oakland side of San Francisco Bay favored building a new bridge parallel with the present Bay Bridge—although the San Francisco side was urging a new crossing farther south.

The mayor pointed out that 80 per cent of the traffic came from the Oakland side, that the Army engineers also favored the parallel crossing.

"Yes, I am familiar with the problem," nodded the President. "In fact, I was once county commissioner of highways, so I have an interest in bridges."

He added, however, that he would not give a decision until he had time to study the reports.

Mayor Smith also protested that most of the nation's ship-building and ship-repair work was concentrated on the East Coast, and that West Coast shipyards were being left out.

"Yes, I understand that is true," replied Truman. "It is my opinion that the West Coast should get a larger share—from the national-defense standpoint and from an economic standpoint."

Note—The President also promised to keep the West Coast in mind in building up new Democratic party leaders.

Assignment: America

Imagine Such Names!

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — Probably it can be presumed that practically everyone knows that the President of the United States lives on Pennsylvania avenue, here in the capital of these United States.

Also, many citizens who have not visited Washington still are well acquainted with the historical events which have transpired on Constitution avenue, the famous people who have lived on Massachusetts avenue, the well-known addresses on Rhode Island and Connecticut avenues—and even a couple of storied structures on streets named "Q" and "R".

But not many, even including those who were born here or have lived in the District most of their lives, know that Washington also is a city of curiously-named courts, alleys, byways and dead-end streets.

There are, however, according to the District engineer, approximately 1,500 of them with names which almost no one except the residents ever heard before—names which stir the imagination, and names which leave absolutely nothing to the imagination.

Not long ago, the engineer compiled and released a listing of the names for the benefit of anyone interested. So, just in case some friend or relative of yours might have moved to Washington recently and sent you a highly improbable address, the following is devoted to proving to you that probably it isn't a practical joke after all.

There is no street named Bourbon (as far as I could find out) in Washington, but there is a Moonshine Alley and a Temperance Court to compete with the hundred-proof handle of that famed New Orleans street. And there's a Pig Alley which, while less colorful, probably was more literal in its original nomenclature than the Parisian rue of the same phonetic name.

Senator Claghorn doesn't live there and the name was born long before a certain gravel-voiced radio comedian, but there is an Allen's Alley in the national's capital.

* * *

But He Wasn't There.

ALSO in the realm of the unexpected, there is a Kilroy's Alley—its walls surprisingly unmarked by signs that he was here!

Signs of early American combat on the banks of the Potomac are spread all over the place, with Gun Alley, Blood Alley, Ambush Alley, Force Alley, Fighting Alley and Savage Alley. Rare it is indeed when even the oldest resident remembers how the street came by its name.

Early Irish residents about town seemed somehow to get their needle stuck. There are no less than five O'Neill's alleys, four O'Brien's alleys, two O'Conner's alleys, an O'Sullivan's court and countless other single street markers in memory of some emigrant of the Emerald Isle.

The origin of Hook-and-Ladder Alley, Zig-Zag Alley, Baptist Alley and Barefoot Alley could be considered fairly clear. But Golden Alley—after one look at it—is a puzzler. Maybe it looked that way to someone once.

Obviously someone was nearing the end of his rope when he named one half-hidden byway (take a deep breath, now) Eleven and One-Half Street Alley. Yes, that's right, Eleven and One-Half Street Alley.

The coming of the current era was clearly indicated in the naming of Electric Alley and Grease Alley, and it's possible that Marble Hall Alley had some specific meaning, although it escapes me at the moment.

As for Ray-Ray Alley, obviously it was named by some resident who had bet his week's wages on the Truman of the time!

JOE LOUIS is waiting until June for Santa . . . He is asking for a pair of gloves, an opponent and $250,000 of the television and radio take.

The present field of challengers might be worth $2.50 to some spendthrift network if they all would get in the ring with Louis at the same time.

* * *

But radio is in another state of flux anyway . . . With this capital-gains business a performer is apt to wind up either on the big board or the curb.

* * *

I don't think Radio Daily and the Wall Street Journal will merge but I hear Hooper's rating now comes on ticker tape.

* * *

And one agency starts its auditions with "what was your last 'bid' and 'asked'?" . . . Meanwhile the frantic search goes on for new faces . . . preferably on old performers.

Timely Editorial

Oleo Bill Coming Up.

Ohio legislators might as well begin now to do a little serious thinking about permitting the sale of colored oleomargarine in the state. A petition that such a bill be considered, backed up by 151,359 valid signatures, requires action in the next general assembly.

In the last session, final consideration of the oleo bill was postponed until the closing rush. It was then hurtahed down.

Ohio voters were angered by this spectacle. They see—even if legislators don't—the need of eliminating from Ohio statutes an outdated, unjust law which discriminates unfairly in favor of the dairy interests.

A powerful butter lobby has prevented repeal of the law, while Ohio housewives have been denied the right to choose freely whether they want butter or colored oleo on their bread. Endless hours of work have been added to housewives' labor by the necessity of coloring white oleo.—Akron Beacon Journal.

The justice, barring further destruction of Castle Garden, better known as the aquarium, comes right out and says "A people indifferent to the landmarks and monuments of the past will not long retain its capacity to achieve an honorable future." Those are fighting words to Mr. Moses who, some folks think, would remove the Washington monument if it slowed up traffic.

There is talk of using a lie detector on principals in that spy probe. That wouldn't get far. Somebody would then demand that the lie detector go before a detector of lie-detector lies.

Farmer's Diary

Bowl of Mush and Milk

By CALVIN A. BYERS

FOR a good night's rest, there's nothing better than a bowl of mush and milk at bedtime. After the boys were asleep the other evening my wife and I sat at the kitchen table and enjoyed such a bowlful.

The mush had been plopping slowly on the back of the kitchen range all evening, preparatory to having fried mush for breakfast. The odor made me hungry. So I dipped out two bowlfuls, dribbled honey over the top, added thin cream, and invited my wife to join me.

Whole-grain yellow cornmeal, dropped into boiling salted water, and cooked a long time slowly. That's all there is to it. This cornmeal was a gift, and so friendship entered into the flavor. It came from the cornfield of a man who farms as a hobby. I admired several long golden ears, heavy, deep grained, and fragrant, which he showed me, proudly. (Our own corn was not half a crop last season.) He said, "I intend to parch some and have it ground at the water-power mill in your village. I'll save out some for you." So I told him I'd swap applebutter for it, and that's how it was. In each case, a real personal gift, into which went time, skill and individuality.

This cornmeal was fine and soft and slightly oily. The germ of the grain, left in, makes it so. Not too much can be ground at a time, or it may become musty, but the food value of the germ is such that it is well worth the extra trouble.

Parching in the oven before grinding gives a nutty flavor that is most appetizing.

It seems to me every community should have a mill where whole grains can be ground or purchased. Too much of the vital part of the food is lost when flour is bleached and dehydrated and preserved indefinitely. "Enriched" with synthetic vitamins it may be—but man-made stuff doesn't taste as good and I suspect the greatest enrichment goes into the pocketbooks of the milling industry. Of course, if more folks asked for whole-grain foods, the industrialists would gladly furnish them. It would be just as possible to have "Grain-of-the-Month" services as it is to have "Fruit-of-the-month or "Book-of-the-month" clubs, wouldn't it?

It is an established fact that the peoples of the world who eat natural, unrefined, fresh foods have the soundest teeth, the least illness and the most stamina. Many American diseases are plainly by-products of our so-called "civilization."

Perhaps we, as a nation, need to learn a whole new set of food habits. Maybe we can begin by going back to the foods our forefathers thrived on, when the land was young. Maybe we can even discover new recipes more appetizing and healthful than old-fashioned mush and milk.

Wolford Heads Drive For Funds

$100,000 Sought In Heart Campaign

Dr. Robert W. Wolford will head a fund-raising drive in Richland county, to be carried out by the Central Ohio Heart association in February. The appointment was made by Dr. Howard L. Bevis, president of Ohio State university and chairman of the association.

Included in the association are 52 central Ohio counties, including Richland, Morrow, Crawford, Knox and Holmes. An attempt will be made to raise $100,000 in the counties and 70 per cent of the money will stay in the 52-county area.

Plastic hearts will be placed in stores during the three-week campaign, Feb. 7 to 28. There will also be a direct mail subscription. The middle week of the campaign, Feb. 14 to 21, is "Heart Week."

Money raised, official said, goes for research, education and community services, such as clinical work, the reading of cardiograms, furnishing equipment to hospitals, and providing of penicillin to indigent heart sufferers.

The national campaign, which will attempt to raise $5,000,000 is under the chairmanship of Harold Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania. This is the first time such a campaign has been undertaken.

Pupils Give Recital

Miss Dorothy Whitworth, music supervisor in Madison township schools, presented her instrumental pupils in a recital at Madison high school last night.

Musicians included pupils from Lincoln Heights, East Mansfield, Woodville and Madison high school.

They were: Sammy Metzger, Kenneth Schmaltz, Bruce Tschantz, Retta Crowl, Eugene Mowry, Joann Bauer, John Kronister, Shirley Steward, Evelyn Tschantz, David Wieland, Neil Zieter, Bonnie Mottayaw, Eddie McDaniel, Eugene Berger, Gloria Stahl, Danny Sprague, Ruth Hagerman, Shirley Parker, Bill Briggs, Esther Logan, Jack Dyson, Sara Shellhaas, Floyd Dawson, Lou Ann Noble, Eddie Potter, Don Noble and Carolyn McElhaney.

Jan. 14 Named Execution Date

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The state supreme court yesterday set Jan. 14 as the execution date for Ova B. Cornutt, Cincinnati. The court upheld the conviction of Cornutt, 47, for the murder of 75-year-old Thomas Wilson, Cincinnati cafe operator, on Dec. 2, 1947.

Elmer Cornutt, nephew of the condemned man, was electrocuted July 16 for the same crime. Elmer was charged with the actual killing while Ova was convicted for having planned the robbery-murder.

GRADUATE—Robert D. Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Black, 683 Arlington avenue, has graduated from the United States Merchant Marine academy, Kings Point, L. I. He has been commissioned an ensign in the U. S. Maritime service and received his license as a third engineer. The course he completed lasted four years, the first of which was spent at the United States Merchant Marine academy, San Mateo, Calif. He spent his second year aboard ships of the American merchant marine, and visited ports in South America and the Pacific. During the two years he spent at Kings Point he was on the rifle and pistol team, the tennis team, and was a sub-company commander.

Rap Phone Service

NEW PHILADELPHIA —(INS) — Criticism over poor service given by Ohio Associated Telephone company at Dover rose in intensity yesterday after neighbors tried for 10 minutes to call firemen while the home of Daniel Grewell suffered $1000 damage in a kitchen fire.

Unveil New Coal Digger

Second Mining Machine Disclosed

PITTSBURGH, Pa. —(AP)— A revolutionary continuous mining machine—designed to dig coal at the rate of two tons a minute—is busily ripping out bituminous in a nearby commercial operation.

The $50,000 machine was developed by the Joy Manufacturing company and purchased by the Pittsburgh Coal company. It was given a public unveiling yesterday in the new Mathies mine, some 15 miles south of Pittsburgh. Seven other machines are in use elsewhere.

The Joy Continuous Miner substitutes one continuous operation for the usual cutting, drilling, blasting and loading activities. It works like this:

The 34-inch high, 25½-foot long machine has a ripper bar, or head, at the front which tears coal upward from the working face and discharges it into a conveyer on the machine's back. The coal is carried to a hopper car in the rear and then to shuttle cars.

The machine is mounted on caterpillar treads and can turn to the right or left. The ripper bar and the rear conveyor each swing in a 45 degree arc so the machine can mine around a corner.

The Joy Continuous Miner is the second such machine to be displayed publicly in recent months Last October, the Sunnyhill Coal company of Pittsburgh, gave a demonstration of a continuous miner in a strip operation near Columbus, O. That machine, called the Colmol, operated on a boring principle, instead of an upward ripping motion.

Lovesick Veteran Hits Added Snag

BERLIN —(U.P.)— Army investigators said yesterday Edward J. Lada, the lovesick former paratrooper from Newark, N. J., who hurdled the Russian blockade for romance, would not marry either of his two loves on American-occupied territory.

They said he avowed preference for brunette Ruth Riecki one day and blonde Ursula Schmidt the next was purely academic as far as matrimony is concerned. "To get married in occupied territory you have to be here legally and Lada isn't," the investigators said.

Broadway BROADWAY

BROADWAY BULLETIN BOARD

Paulette Goddard and Burgess Meredith will ponder the Big Decision around the first of the year, if he returns from France on schedule. Close friends are disregarding Pauline's denials of a possible divorce—and can you blame them when she's doing Mexico with John Steinbeck and Burgess is seeing Paris with Pamela Churchill?

The Nelson Rockefellers will lullaby in April . . . Hollywood's newest feud stars Lizabeth Scott and Diana Lynn. Dat ole debbil, scene-stealing . . . Members of the White House inner circle expect an early resignation from Kenneth Royall. He and the President are farther apart than Errol Flynn and the New York constabulary . . .

Dorothy Mackaill, who was a famous star in the silent flicker era, is in Reno . . . The District Attorney's office is sitting on another front-page expose with as much human interest as the current divorce mill scandal. It deals with a "baby black market" set up in New York.

A wealthy Texas oil man (or is that redundant?) drew some publicity he didn't like during the Woolley-Hart gambling party comedy, but didn't learn his lesson. On a recent train trip he dropped $40,000 to a set of strangers . . .

Phyllis Arnold, the singer, flew to Chicago over the weekend with the avowed intention of marrying Maxie Rosenbloom . . . They say Peter Lawford was the reason for the Art Ford-Vikki Dugan breakup . . .

You simply aren't of the intelligentsia if you haven't been invited to the party Truman Capote is tossing tomorrow. Several hundred of the literary set have been asked . . . Metro starlet Janet Leigh will waltz down the aisle with Barry Nelson (the young playwright in "Light Up the Sky") when her divorce from Stanley Reames is final.

* * *

"Bee Gee" Holloway, the very social heir to the Grace Lines, has been a quiet member of Alcoholics Anonymous for six months now, his erstwhile playmates will be surprised to learn . . .

Woolworth Donahue and Lady Stanley caused lifted eyebrows at El Morocco with their duetting. The experts had her love pegged elsewhere . . . Luther Adler's nose job has made him practically pretty, and the film pundits are madly retyping him . . .

Quite a row at the Clique club the other night when Peggy Maley told off Buddy Rich for not paying enough attention to her. When 4 a. m. rolled around, he left with her most meekly . . .

His studio expects Tyrone power to make a sudden and surprising return to the United States. . . . Kate Smith will ride out to Smithtown, L. I., to mail her Christmas cards and bundles.

* * *

Arline Judge has sold her fabulous hilltop home in Bel Air for $90,000 and moved all the furnishings to her new cooperative apartment on upper Fifth avenue . . .

You'd be amused and amazed at the identity of the GOP biggie who has been relaxing at Palm Beach and Havana with an ultra-glamorous New York model. The topper is that (unknown to him, naturally) she's wired her real boy friend, an actor, the money to come down and join her on the q.t. . . . .

Martha Raye did so well in London she'll play a return engagement in March, and do a film there, too . . . Father Divine's ex-press agent, who split with him after a tiff, is seeking a market for a series of "revelations about the fabulous Father.

Sheet music, sales have perked up throughout the country . . . Eleanor Marcus (William Saroyan's sister-in-law) has broken her engagement to Dr. Louis Scarone . . .

Versatile Scrambled Eggs

Creamy scrambled eggs are appropriate for almost any occasion. They make a delicious breakfast, a quick supper or a hearty midnight snack.

For tender, fluffy scrambled eggs, try cooking them in a porcelain enameled double boiler. The eggs are less likely to be overcooked because the water in the bottom part of the boiler assures constant, low heat. Porcelain enameled double boilers are designed with slightly rounded corners so that foods may be easily stirred.

SCRAMBLED EGGS FOR FOUR: Break 6 eggs into mixing bowl. Add ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. (If desired, 6 tablespoons cream or milk may be added.) Blend with fork or beater. Pour into upper part of double boiler set over hot water. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently away from sides and bottom of pan. Continue cooking until eggs are thick and creamy. Serve immediately.

SCRAMBLED EGG VARIATIONS: 1. When eggs begin to thicken, add 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento, 2 tablespoons chopped chives and ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. 2. Saute diced frankfurters, luncheon meat, chicken livers or mushrooms. Add to eggs just before they are done. 3. Add a generous sprinkling of grated cheese when eggs begin to set.

John Todd Park Group Has Dinner

A covered dish dinner and Christmas exchange was held by members of the John Todd park auxiliary Wednesday evening in the pavilion. Seventy-five members and guests were present. The hosts for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bunting and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bunting.

The pavilion was decorated in red, green and silver for the holiday season.

Jay Shadel gave a short talk after dinner inviting the auxiliary to a meeting with the park association on January 18.

Gifts were distributed to all present by Santa Claus.

During the business meeting, which followed, plans were made to have a card party at the pavilion on Saturday, January 15, at 8 p. m. The committee in charge is Mrs. James Burkhart, Mrs. James Glasglo and Mrs. Russel Yarman.

The next regular meeting will be January 19 at 6:30. This will be a covered dish dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Maul, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Fulmer and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Isaman as the hosts.

A new series of children's records, multi-colored on both sides, are die cut from plastic in animal shapes, personifying the various animals that they describe in a child's visit to the circus. Musical background for the records is supplied through popular circus marches.

Annual Christmas Tea Given

Mrs. V. C. Stamets, assisted by Mrs. Paul McIntire and Mrs. Leo Casad, was hostess to members of the Ladies Aid of the First Evangelical United Brethren church at their annual Christmas tea. The meeting was held at the Stamets home, 79 Park avenue east.

Devotions were opened by Mrs. Henry Barr reading the Christmas story and also an article on prayer followed by individual prayers. Mrs. Barr gave the story "The Real Saint Nicholas."

Mrs. Walter Coder gave the origin of Christmas carols followed by group singing of "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and "Silent Night."

Christmas poems were given by Mrs. Clifton Balliet and Mrs. Philip Keller.

The songs, "The First Noel" and "Away in the Manger," were sung by Mrs. Ward Barrett.

The hostess served refreshments from a table decorated in the Christmas theme with Mrs. H. M. Hout presiding.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Hout, North Townview Circle, January 26.

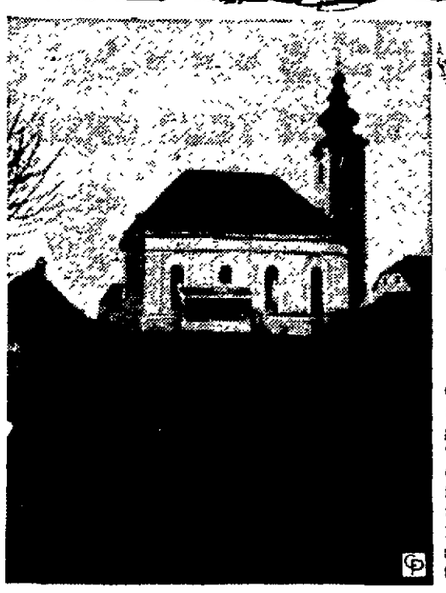
Hymns Essential to Christmas

Above: "Christmas Morning Carol," by the English artist of 100 years ago, A. Crowquill. Below: An old engraving of Franz Gruber, composer of "In Der Christnacht," or "Silent Night." Right: the church at Oberndorf, Austria, where Gruber was organist and where his hymn was first sung.



Clement C. Moore

Clement Clarke Moore (above) and his autograph. Although the poem "A Visit From St. Nicholas" was published first in 1823, it was not attributed to Moore until 1844. He never claimed authorship, and the authorship remains in doubt.

By CLARK KINNAIRD

The foundations of Christmas traditions were laid nineteen centuries ago, of course. But the most prominent parts of the structure we know today were erected within the last century.

After the midnight religious service has been held and "Silent Night" has been sung, Christmas is a time for Santa Claus; "Jingle Bells"; the re-reading of Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" and of "A Visit From St. Nicholas"; the sending and receipt of Christmas cards; and a dinner of turkey and mince pie.

All the things mentioned above after the religious service have comparatively new associations with Christmas.

"In Der Christnacht," the hymn generally known in its English translation as "Silent Night," was composed in 1818 by Franz Xavier Gruber to words of Joseph Mohr. The latter was pastor of a Lutheran church in Oberndorf, Austria. His collaborator was organist in the church. Their song was heard only at the Oberndorf church until about 1834, when a quartet of sisters from the vicinity, named Strasser, included it in a concert in Leipzig.

The organist of the Leipzig cathedral was in their audience and he invited them to sing it at the cathedral. That caused it to get a publisher. However, it was not until 1854 that it could be considered a success.

Then Emperor Frederich Wilhelm IV of Germany heard it and, in his enthusiasm, issued an imperial edict that "In Der Christnacht" be sung in all churches at Christmas. He also ordered honors be given to the composers.

COMPOSERS UNKNOWN

When the emporer asked the composers' names, nobody knew offhand. In seeking them out, his officials found that Mohr had died in 1848—a century ago this year. Gruber lived until 1863. Meanwhile the song had started going wherever German immigrants settled. It lives on today in churches of many denominations the world over.

It was a German immigrant, Thomas Nast, who is responsible for the present popular concept of Santa Claus, as told in this space yesterday. The character he gave to Santa Claus in his drawings in the 1860's and 1870's were admittedly influenced by "A Visit From St. Nicholas," also called "'Twas the Night Before Christmas," most famous of Christmas poems, which begins:

"'Twas the night before Christmas
And all through the house
Not a creature was stirring
Not even a mouse."

The oft-published story and generally-held belief is that the poem, which first appeared in the Troy, N. Y., Sentinel, December 23, 1823, was written by Clement Clarke Moore, a professor of Greek and Hebrew at the General Theological Seminary, in New York City. There is evidence suggesting that Moore wasn't the author. As a matter of fact, he never claimed to be the writer. This has been explained as being due to the unwillingness of a staid professor in a ministerial school, to be known to his students and neighbors as author of Christmas jingles. Christmas festivities were still looked upon in those days as more pagan than Christian (as told in earlier stories in this series).

However, the reason that he didn't claim authorship may have been the simple one that there was no basis for it. Descendents of one Henry Livingston of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., have been endeavoring for years to prove that their ancestor, not Moore, was the author of the beloved verses. They have built up a case that does make doubt of Moore's authorship of the jingles as substantial as the question of the authorship of Shakespeare's plays.

However, regardless of the authorship, the poem has made its contribution to Christmas tradition in little more than a century. That is true also of the now immortal short story by Charles Dickens, "A Christmas Carol."

An English historian wrote, "The forties of the last century saw Christmas reborn in England. The first vogue of Christmas trees was in 1841; the first Christmas cards were on sale—a thousand of them—in 1846; and 1843 saw the issue of the greatest of Christmas books, Dickens' 'A Christmas Carol.'

"The idea came to him in Manchester, and he began work on it during the second week of October. He had always been fond of wandering about in poor neighborhoods on Christmas Day, watching the dinners preparing and all the bustling excitement.

"He put all that he knew of Christmas into his book, writing in a state of mental incandescence. He wept over it, and laughed, and wept again as he wrote, and walked at night for fifteen or twenty miles about the London streets thinkung of his book.

SOLD FIRST DAY

"It was completed by the end of November and published a few days before Christmas. Six thousand copies—the complete edition—were sold on the first day."

It is odd that the best-known Christmas Carol, Dickens', is intended to be read, not sung. For no other Christmas tradition is older than caroling. The songs of religious joy over the birth of a Saviour were the first association with Christmas observance upon which the churches looked with favor.

As far back as the 2nd century, A. D., St. Telesphorus urged his flock to sing the "Angels' Hymn" (Gloria in Excelsis Deo) on the eve of the day the Nativity was observed. The word "carol" came into the English language from Latin in the Middle Ages.

The founder of the Church of England, Henry VIII, gave special encouragement to carol-singing, and the custom of singers touring the towns at the Christmas season was well-established in his time. Great composers, such as Handel and Bach, composed Christmas carols, but simple tunes with simple words (such as the Mohr-Gruber "In Der Christnacht"), sung by the wandering carolers and church choirs, became most popular.

Next to the Mohr-Gruber carol these perhaps most often sung at Christmas in the United States are all of American origin. "O Little Town of Bethlehem" was written by Phillips Brooks in Philadelphia in 1868.

"It Came Upon the Midnight Clear" was composed by Edmund Sears in 1850. "Jingle Bells," which is heard as much as any carol, was written by John Pierpont, of Litchfield, Conn., in 1857.

ROOF, DOORS BURNED

NOVA — The State Highway garage's fireproof brick building here was the scene of a blaze Wednesday which destroyed the roof and doors of the building. New London and Greenwich fire trucks were summoned to help local volunteers. Cause of the fire is undetermined.

There are several instances on record in North Carolina when voracious bluefish have driven schools of menhaden on to the shore until they were piled up knee deep.

Writer Aids Santa, Picks Books Suitable For Front Page Figures

NEW YORK—(AP)—Santa Claus had a problem.

"I don't have any trouble picking presents for the children," he wrote. "But these grownups—so many of them want books.

"But what book? I don't have much time to read, and this year the dad-blamed publishers came out with about 9,000 new titles. Can you imagine anyone in his right mind wading through 9,000 new books? How about helping me again?"

So, for the third year, I have compiled a tentative list of gift books to be sent to famous folks around the world. Hyar 'tis—all in good fun:

How To Stop Worrying and Start Living——George Bernard Shaw.

The Man in the Street—George Gallup and Elmo Roper.

Crusade in Europe.—Stalin.

No Place to Hide—Whittaker Chambers.

Tomorrow Will Be Better—The Republican Party.

Theory of Harmony—Molotov.

A Mask for Privilege—An automobile dealer.

The American Language—Sam Goldwyn and Leo Durocher.

The Loved One—Tommy Manville.

The Old Beauty—Peggy Hopkins Joyce.

The Fathering Storm—Your Local weather forecaster.

Footloose in France — Gen. Charles DeGaulle.

The Gesture—Norman Thomas.

The World is not Enough—The Soviet Politburo.

The Nightmare of American Foreign Policy—Chiang Kai-Shek.

King of the Wind—Harold Ickes.

Eisenhower Was My Boss—Field Marshal Montgomery.

You Can Change the World—Westbrook Pegler.

Office Management—Rep. J. Parnell Thomas.

Economic Security and Individual Freedom—Gargantua.

The Sky is Red—The Committee on Unamerican Activities.

A Guide to Confident Living—Gabriel Heatter.

The Plague and I—Any owner of a television set.

Knock on Any Door—Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek.

The Wine of Astonishment—The news analysts.

The Steam Shovel That Wouldn't Eat Dirt—Henry J. Kaiser.

The War We Lost—Herbert Brownell.

The Complete Card Player—Jesse Jones.

It Gives Me Great Pleasure—Any lifelong Democrat.

The Meaning of Treason—To all the Iowa Republican farmers who voted Democratic (sent with the compliments of the G.O.P. national committee).

Pursuit of the Horizon—Henry Wallace.

Answer to Question 33—Alger Hiss.

The Enchanted Life—A draftee in the "new" U. S. Army.

Dixie Raider—Gov. J. Strom Thurmond.

The Beast in Me—Errol Flynn.

That's Me All Over—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Giant at the Crossroads—Joe Louis.

Women Never Go Broke—Your wife.

How to Live Within Your Income—Tell Santa you want this one yourself.

4 Churches Get Share Of Estate

Fred M. Pfleiderer Leaves $35,000

Four churches will benefit from the will of Fred M. Pfleiderer, of Mansfield, who died Dec. 6. He headed the Mansfield hatchery.

His will, admitted to probate today, left $500 each to the First Lutheran church of Mansfield, the English Lutheran church of Sulphur Springs, and the Crouse Memorial Lutheran church of Tiro. The United Brethren church of Tiro was bequeathed $200.

The probable value of the estate was put at $35,000 in real and equal amount in personal property. The will stipulated that one-third the sum of the estate go to his wife, Mrs. Glenna Pfleiderer.

ROOKS WILL FILED

In another will filed for probate, Charles E. Rooks, late of Plymouth township, left his personal property and a life estate in his real estate to his wife, Mrs. Flossie May Rooks.

His real estate was left to his son, Ernst L. Rooks, of Plymouth, which bequest is qualified by the life estate in the real estate left to the widow. Mrs. Lela Belle Crall, a daughter, residing in Lancaster, Calif., was left $25.

The estate was estimated at $6,500. The son was named executor.

Marjora Smith, of Bellville, was named executrix of the estate of Charles Lantz, late of Madison township, who died Dec. 10.

The probable value of the estate was put at $7,811. The will provided for $400 to go to Majora Smith, in trust, to be used for funeral expenses of a sister of the deceased man.

The balance is to go to two nephews, Richard L. Cates, of Mansfield, and Marvel Miller, of Bellville, and Majora Smith, of Bellville.

Nick Wilhelm, Friend of Thousands, to Retire

Leaves School After 28 Years

It won't be just "Merry Christmas" which Nick Wilhelm extends to teachers and pupils of John Simpson junior high school today as they leave for their annual Christmas vacation.

It will also be "Goodbye," for today will be Wilhelm's last day of association with the school as assistant custodian, although he doesn't officially retire until Dec. 31.

For 28 years Wilhelm has been with the city's public school system. During the years, he has been known as a kindly, happy, pleasant person who was never too busy to do a favor.

Wilhelm started his public school employment at Newman school. He worked there a year before going to Bowman. He was at Bowman school for two years, then went over to the old junior high at the corner of Bowman and West Fourth and continued to serve when the old building was torn down and the new building erected at the same site.

PLEASANT MEMORIES

Wilhelm will have a lot of pleasant memories to take with him into retirement.

Born in Austria-Hungary, Wilhelm came to Mansfield in 1906 and took out his citizenship papers in 1910. He and Mrs. Wilhelm have reared three children, two of whom are married and have given them grandchildren. Their daughter, Irene, was a former employe of the office of Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller.

Wilhelm is proud of his work with the city's teachers.

"In all that time," he said, "I've never had any trouble either with the teachers or the pupils. I've tried to be nice and we've had a pleasant time together."

"I can't express our appreciation for Nick," H. J. Dotson, principal at John Simpson, said today. "I've known him for 29 years. He always has been courteous, faithful, and thorough in his work. We're going to miss Nick."

CHORES TO END SOON—There won't be much more sweeping in John Simpson junior high school halls for Nick Wilhelm, who retires on Dec. 31 after 28 years with the school system. Wilhelm is shown in the halt at the school where he has served as assistant janitor since the erection of the building eight years ago.

Last night in appreciation for his work, John Simpson staff members had him as a guest at a dinner in the cafeteria and presented him with a smoking stand and two boxes of cigars.

"I was really surprised," Nick said. "And grateful, too. But I'm pretty tired and I plan just to rest. We may take a trip later, but I have no plans for that right now."

Up and Down the Street . . .

BUSY HOLIDAYS—

The YMCA has gone all out to keep its boy members happy and busy during the long holiday vacation. Beginning Monday, recreation schedules will be in effect and will last through Dec. 31. Some of the activities are swimming contests, checker tournaments, ping-pong tournaments, handball, basketball, and volleyball games. The "Y" will be closed Christmas eve and Christmas day on the assumption the boys will find plenty around their homes to keep them occupied. It also will be closed New Year's eve, and then reopened New Year's day for an open house from 2 p. m. to 6 p. m.

GUMDROPS AS ORNAMENTS—

The clerk of courts office in the court house had its own small Christmas tree today. The tree has ornaments, made of gumdrops of various colors, and a good many artificial icicle decorations. Josephine Kelso, deputy clerk, described it as a kind of artificial "spruce" tree. Putting on the ornamental gum drops were Deputy Clerks Norma Schindler and Norma Solomon.

★

ALL FOR FREE—

Here's a real example of the ageless (and sometimes neglected) spirit of giving at Christmas. Mrs. J. C. Snouffer, 604 Wooster road, has 100 Yule trees in her yard and she's anxious to get rid of them. They were left there by two young men who rented her front yard as a "salesroom." However, they gave up the idea when they learned there was an abundance of trees for sale in Mansfield, and left town. Mrs. Snouffer says the trees are free for the asking to anyone who comes after them, and hopes they will benefit those persons who might otherwise not have a tree for Christmas. They are all large trees. The Snouffer home is directly across from People's hospital.

Council Transfers $14,000

$1,000 Provided For Streets

An additional $14,000 for the police and firemen's salaries for the last half of December was appropriated last night by city council.

The additional appropriation was made necessary by:

1. The passage of the police and firemen's pay increase ordinance by voters in November, and

2. The hiring several months ago of an additional five firemen to man the newly-opened No. 5 fire station.

Actually, last night's special meeting would have been necessary under any circumstances, because the extra fire department personnel had been paid out of funds appropriated the beginning of the year when they were not on the force.

These appropriations were made: $2,000 from the parking meter fund to pay the traffic commissioner and nine traffic patrolmen; $8,500 for the fire department's 45 members, including the five new ones and $3,500 from the general fund for the police department salaries.

In other end-of-the-year money matters council approved the appropriation of $1,960 to three other funds.

$1,000 FOR STREETS

One thousand dollars went to the street department; $600 for additional plumbing and light fixtures at the No. 5 fire station; $360 for architects' fees for remodeling the third floor of the city building and $10 to meet the final architect's fees at the No. 5 fire station.

Transfers of funds approved included $2,000 in the sanitary sewer department; $400 for traffic light maintenance and $200 for the airport.

Council also ok'd payment of the following bills: $190 to the B. O. Darling company and $404 to the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company as the city's share of the paving of the intersection of Coleman road and Euclid avenue, and $959 to the Mansfield Asphalt company as the city's share in the resurfacing of North Diamond street from Surrey road to the Erie railroad tracks.

Routine business included granting a license to William G. Auer, to grade Harvard avenue from Tudor avenue to Princeton street and authorizing the service-safety director to enter into a contract with Madison township trustees for not less than $5,000 to provide that district with fire protection for 1949.

Chatter . . .

Donald Kuhn, 19, seaman third class, son of Mrs. Harry Kuhn, of 264 South Diamond street, home on a 28-day leave from the U. S. Naval Air Center in Memphis Tenn. He received his boot training at Great Lakes Training Center and graduated from Senior high school here two years ago.

★

Donald F. Creedman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Creedman of 200 Bennett street, student at Ball State college, Angola, Ind., has been selected for inclusion in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." Candidates were selected on the basis of scholastic records, leadership and citizenship. It is considered the highest honor for a student on the campus.

★

Packages, gayly tied with Christmas wrappings, being taken to school this morning for the annual Yuletide exchange of gifts among public school pupils.

★

Eugene V. Bradley, 64 West Second street, being awarded a diploma after completing the four-week resident course at the Mutual Insurance Institute in Chicago. Bradley is a trainee of the Lumbermen's Mutual Insurance company.

★

Friends of Pfc. Edward F. Barr, son of Mrs. Eunice Barr, 253 Eighth avenue, learning he has graduated from the Army's clerk-typist school at the Ft. Francis E. Warren, Wyoming.

★

The personnel at the Mansfield army recruiting office getting three-day passes during the holidays. Six men get a pass at Christmas, the other six for the New Year's week end.

★

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kemp, of 1078 Grace street, receiving word that their son, Pfc. Kenneth L. Kemp, serving with the 98th Bomber group, has arrived at Spokane, Wash., after serving in the Pacific islands. Kemp is expected to be home for Christmas.

HEARING CONTINUED

The case of Herman Elms, 26, of Clairton, Pa., booked on a paternity charge, was continued yesterday in juvenile court until Jan. 11.

Long Illness Proves Fatal

Mrs. Ella Bishop, 73, wife of Irvin Bishop, 173 South Main street, died at her home late yesterday after an illness of several months.

Born in Crestline Dec. 15, 1875, Mrs. Bishop had been a resident of Mansfield for the past 25 years.

Besides her husband she is survived by two sons, Orlando and Earl Bishop, both of Mansfield; eight daughters, Mrs. Leona Boyle, Mrs. Louis Bonin, Mrs. Michael Hallabrin, Mrs. George Franta, Mrs. John Merkel and Mrs. Philip Cole, all of Mansfield, and Mrs. Floyd Bauer of Crestline and Mrs. Elden Bachelder of Lexington. A sister, Mrs. Anna Reindl of Mansfield, 22 grandchildren and six great grandchildren also survive.

Services will be held Monday at 3:30 p. m. at the Wappner funeral home. Rev. John G. Gensel, pastor of St. Paul Lutheran church, will officiate and burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Crestline Men Enlist In Navy

Two Crestline men enlisted in the navy, the U. S. Naval recruiting office announced today.

They are James E. Johnson, 18, and Julia A. Salvati, 20. Johnson enlisted for one year, while Salvati signed for the regular three-year period. Both men have been sent to the naval training center in San Diego, Calif.

Grotto Dance Set Saturday Night

A pre-Christmas dance will be sponsored Saturday night by Baku Grotto in Grotto hall.

Monarch Homer Dent announced today that the dance will be open to guests of Baku members.

Bill Leicy and his orchestra will furnish music for dancing from 9:30 until 12:30. A variety of novelty numbers has been promised by the orchestra.

Monarch Dent said tickets for the New Year's eve celebration will be available at the Saturday night dance.

Action Over Trade Name Dismissed

An action over the use of the trade name, "Grill Meats," has been dismissed in common pleas court by the plaintiff, Grill Meats, Inc., of Sandusky, which also paid the costs of the action.

The plaintiff had contended the defendant, Russell E. Hicks, of 35 West Third street, had changed the name of his market from "Dan's Quality Market" to "Dan's Grill Meats," and had asked he be enjoined from using that trade name.

Drive Goal Half Raised

Lt. Maj. R. L. Gutterman, of the Volunteers of America, announced today the Volunteers have raised more than half of their campaign goal of $12,000 in their annual drive for funds to carry on the year's work.

The Volunteers have raised a total of $6,107 since the campaign opened Nov. 12. The drive will continue until Jan. 15.

Of the total amount raised, $4,783 came from contributions mailed to the Volunteers and from Mansfield business places, $1,100 from house-to-house collections, and $232 from Christmas chimneys.

Gutterman said that Mansfielders who have not been contacted personally or by mail, can bring or mail their contributions to Volunteers headquarters at 290 North Main street.

Naval Reserve Ups Strength 20 Times

Mansfield's Organized Naval Reserve Division Nine-195 is two years old today and 20 times stronger than when five officers and 17 enlisted men met for the first meeting on the night of Dec. 17, 1946.

Chief H. F. Warner of the division, in reviewing the history of the group, said present strength of the division is 20 officers and 209 enlisted men.

In the past two years about 80 men have been advanced in rating and more than 350 officers and enlisted men have participated in the year-round naval reserve cruises.

The communication personnel of the division have been awarded the Ninth naval district cup for the best service since activation.

First meeting place of the division was the Chamber of Commerce assembly room. Then the division moved to the Memorial building which in turn was given up for recruiting space at the post office. The reserve office was later switched to 48 West Second street and a "radio shack" was maintained in Central fire station at the city building for several months.

Last March 1, the division "went home" to their rightful quarters in the naval training center on Ashland road.

Illness Takes A. Harrington

Alpheus L. Harrington, 78, died at the home of his son, James Harrington on Harding road Thursday night following an extended illness.

Mr. Harrington was born in Independence, W. Va., Dec. 10, 1871 and had lived in Mansfield for the past 18 months. He was a member of the United Brethren church at Independence.

Besides his son, he is survived by his wife, Eliza Mitter Harrington; another son, Charles; seven grandchildren, all of Mansfield; two sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Mitter of Independence and Mrs. Martha Fromhart of Los Angeles, Calif.

The body will be sent to Newburg, W. Va., for services and burial. Friends may call at the Finefrock funeral home tonight.

Trucker Hurt At Brick Plant

A Woodburn, Ind., truck driver, identified as Brad Mueller, was injured about 10:15 a. m. today at the Richland Shale Brick plant on Olivesburg road.

Company officials said Mueller fell from the top of his loaded truck as he attempted to throw a tarpaulin over the load of tile. The tile, officials said, was to be hauled to Indiana.

Officials at the plant said Mueller suffered an injury to his left leg, when he fell approximately 10 feet. He was taken to General hospital.

PAYMENT AUTHORIZED

Payment of bills was approved yesterday afternoon at a routine meeting of the Richland county board of elections, Board Clerk Thomas R. Zeigler said.

Death Takes Carroll Child

The two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Normel Carroll, of 25 Bushnell street, died last night in Mansfield General hospital.

The girl, Sheilah Kay Carroll, had been ill about two months. She was born in Mansfield, Feb. 20, 1946.

Services will be held Saturday at 3:30 p. m. in the Wappner funeral home. Rev. Paul Hunter, pastor of the Four Square Gospel church, will officiate. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Surviving besides the parents, are a sister, Ginger Jaynes; the grandparents, Mrs. Pearl Fike, of Mansfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carroll, residing in Kentucky.

Lodge Holds Party

Mansfield Lodge No. 35, F. and A. M. will hold its annual Christmas party for children at the Masonic Temple at 7:30 p. m. tonight.

FEE FUND AUTHORIZED

A supplemental appropriation of $700 for the damages and witnesses' fees of the dog and kennel fund has been authorized by the county commissioners.

Store Plans Gift Pile

Cooperates With Salvation Army

Joining in a nation-wide "Christmas Tree Caravan" the Salvation Army here will accept gifts for needy youngsters of the city through the M. O'Neil company store.

In many cities of the country there will be big trees under which gifts will be deposited. In Mansfield, because of the ban on untreated evergreens, an attractive Christmas display will be erected in the O'Neil store around which all gifts will be placed.

The display will be placed on the first floor landing. Two large candles and a Christmas receptacle will mark the place where generous Mansfielders may place their gifts, Maj. William J. Jones, Salvation Army commander, said today.

At Christmas time, the gifts thus donated will be taken to the Army Citadel and distributed to needy children in the city.

Examinations Reveal 3 Tuberculosis Cases

Soybeans Up Farm Income

Gain Notice As Major Crop

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Soybeans, once a rare oriental plant, are bringing in more than $43,000,000 to Ohio farmers this year.

This compares to a cash return from the same crop of about $225,000 some 25 years ago.

The difference illustrates the position that soybeans have taken in recent years as a major crop.

This year the agriculture department estimates a record crop nationally of 210,475,000 bushels of soybeans harvested for beans. (A small amount is used for hay, grazed or plowed under.)

The Ohio production is estimated at 18,160,000 bushels, grown on 908,000 acres, chiefly in the northwest quarter of the state.

In 1924, when acreage of the crop was small nationally, Ohio harvested 230 000 bushels on 20,000 acres The beans then were less in demand and brought in less per bushel.

Since 1943, soybans have been the leading oil crop in the United States. About 80 per cent of the crop is processed into oil and oil meal. A small amount is used to make soya flour or for specialized food industries.

Registrar Appointed In Crestline

Auto Club Plans Increase In Dues

CRESTLINE—Glenn Dale Hoffman has been appointed deputy registrar of motor vehicles for this territory. His wife will assist in the operation of the new office in their home at 319 North Seltzer street. The headquarters previously had been located at the Farmers and Citizens bank

The Crestline Automobile club announced an increase in dues, effective Jan. 1, due to increased expenses as facilities have increased. New officers will be elected next year. Present officers are W. H. Magers, president; V. R. Hoover, vice president, and J. M. McCarter, secretary-treasurer.

In addition to increased expenses the dues increase move was prompted by an Ohio State Automobile association requirement in order that local dues may conform more nearly to those of other clubs in this area for whom mutual services are performed.

$200 Fine Assessed In Liquor Case

Woman Charged In City Court

Mrs. Lillian Jones, 224½ North Diamond street, was found guilty in municipal court today of illegal possession, for sale, of intoxicating liquor and was fined $200 and costs.

Sentence was pronounced after a 45-minute hearing during which a state liquor department agent testified that on Nov. 18 Mrs. Jones sold him several ddinks. He said she admitted she did not have a license.

Mrs. Jones, who was fined $200 and costs on June 12, 1947, for a similar violation, was defended by Attorney James V. Will.

A second charge—being a keeper of a place where intoxicating liquor is sold—was dropped at the request of City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch.

Francois L. Ballot, of Freeport, N. Y., and John Gerbuck, of Avon Lake forfeited $25 bonds for speeding and Florence B. Carter, of Galion paid a fine of $10 and costs for a similar violation.

Mose L. Miller, 203 East Fourth street, was found guilty of threatening Fannie Stevens in a menacing manner. He was given a 30-day suspended jail sentence and costs.

City Receives $128,225 In Taxes

The city received the last of its share of 1948 tax receipts today.

Four checks, totaling $128 225 were delivered to City Auditor Paul L. Kelley. They were the city's share of locally-collected personal and classified taxes and its share of state collected sales and intangible taxes.

IT FELT SO GOOD

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—"It felt so good," said Earl Fleeger, 24 when police asked him why he took an idle street car from the car barn and drove it for an hour over six miles of streets.

Atomic Era Called No Threat To Coal Industry's Future

Coal will not be replaced by atomic power derived from uranium, L. O. Reiter, of the Bituminous Coal institute, Washington, D. C., asserted Wednesday before the weekly meeting of the Optimist club.

Calling bituminous coal and lignite the nation's greatest fuel supply, the speaker described the new uses to which coal is being put. He emphasized the experimental work being done to make synthetic gasoline and heating gas from coal.

Reiter discussed new methods of mining and described some of the machines being put to use to make coal mining more and more automatic. The use of such machines, he said, is the chief reason the United States is far ahead of any other country in coal production.

The speaker was introduced by Thomas Schacher.

County 4-H Clubs Enroll 774 In '48

Richland county's 4-H club enrollment climbed to a record high of 774 in 56 clubs during the past summer, the county agent's annual report showed today.

There were 14 more clubs and 156 more members this year than in 1947. The 1948 enrollment included 505 girls and 269 boys.

Eight hundred and 20 projects were completed by 446 girls and 216 boys during the past year.

The report of county extension activities was released by County Agent C. N. McGrew who on Sept. 1 succeeded George B. Ganyard as agent. Ganyard went to Franklin county as agent.

The girls 4-H club work is handled by Miss Mable Spray, home demonstration agent, and the boys work by the county agent. During the year, 512 members were given health examinations. Twelve members represented the county in State Fair contests while 11 others exhibited at the fair.

In all, there were 350 demonstrations given throughout the year. Style revue demonstrations, an exhibitors' party and judging of livestock, grain and vegetables were included in the Junior Fair program.

The report points out that local people determine the over-all county program at a meeting of rural leaders.

Among the activities which had been suggested for 1948, and which were carried out were these:

To help the people of Richland county acquire a center for rural activities; to develop more leadership; to have 4-H club work mean more to more boys and girls; to provide information on farming and homemaking; and to provide additional information on soil conservation.

AGENTS BUSY

Activities of the county and home demonstration agent included information on farm and home accounts, insect and disease control, letters to crop and livestock producers, soil testing, lime and fertilizer recommendations, counsel on crop and livestock production marketing, kitchen rearrangements, child care training for young mothers and selection and construction of clothing.

Other activities of the extension office included providing plans for farm buildings and equipment, help with drainage and conservation problems, assistance in securing seedlings for reforestration and in the selection of trees for cutting, planning for improvement in pastures and meadows, and instructions on the making of slip covers, meal planning and food preparation.

In carrying out the extension work, the agent spent 230 days on adult work and 51 days on 4-H clubwork. Of those days, 163 were spent in the office, 118 in the field while 117 evenings were devoted to extension work.

Miss Spray spent 178 days on adult work and 103 days on 4-H club work. Of these, 182 days were spent in the office, 99 in the field and 98 evenings also were spent on extension work, the report said.

There were 277 meetings held during the year under the direct sponsorship of either agent. The attendance for the meetings totaled 10,595.

MAIL: 15,839 LETTERS

Other statistics show that 15,839 letters and cards were mailed out; there were 3,392 office calls, 1,610 phone calls, 364 farm and home visits, and 140 news articles.

There were 3,982 bulletins distributed. Of the leaders working under the program, 611 attended 21 leader training meetings while 809 attended 57 demonstration meetings. One adult and two 4-H achievement days were held, with a total attendance of 725.

Eight Richland county women attended farm women's camp while 27 boys, 51 girls and 10 counselors attended 4-H club camp. Local leaders held 474 extension meetings with 6,024 persons attending. There were also 197 other meetings attended by 8,450 persons.

The report says that a wide range of problems must be given attention and assistance from an extension office and that the demands here were met as far as possible. The report said the main objective of the program is the improvement of rural life.

The extension service is maintained cooperatively by Ohio State university, the U. S. Department of Agriculture and Richland county commissioners.

Its two-fold function, the report says, is to help rural families and communities to recognize and define their problems and to help them to develop plans and procedures by which they may solve these problems.

HIRE MORE WORKERS

WARREN — (AP) — The Lordstown ordnance depot is adding more than 100 employes to take care of additional work. Capt. Steve Dezulovich, commanding officer, said more employes were needed because of increased storage demands due to a changeover in distribution of ordnance materials and supplies for the Second Army.

FLEES SOVIETS — Editor of Soviet-licensed newspaper, Taglische Rundschau, Count Heinrich von Einsiedel, great-grandson of Germany's famed Bismarck, is reported in western sector of Berlin in flight from Soviet sector. Several motnhs ago he was arrested in U. S. zone for possessing forged papers, and served a three-month prison sentence. (International)

Geneticist Raises Cancer Cure Hopes

NEW YORK — (UP) — Two years of experiment on mice showed today that an unknown substance in the body may be found to prevent cancer.

The report came from Dr. Leonell C. Strong, geneticist at the Yale University School of Medicine, who sees even the possibility of a vaccine against cancer.

TEACHERS GET RAISE

NORWALK — (AP) — A flat $300 annual salary increase will be given 59 Norwalk public school teachers and principals Jan. 1, School Board President John N. Orebaugh announced today.

Bus Drivers Aid Rider

LYNN, Mass. —(UP)— More than 50 Eastern Massachusetts street railway bus drivers joined to get rid of their steadiest passenger as an act of kindness.

James Callahan, 24, his legs paralyzed as a result of an electric shock, was a regular passenger for eight years as he traveled from his home to St. Mary's Church to attend mass each day.

Impressed by his courage, the drivers raised a fund and bought Callahan a television set and a motorized wheelchair.

The wheelchair cost the line a customer, but the drivers didn't think the company would mind. No longer must Callahan struggle with his crutches to board a bus. He can go to church without assistance, riding in his chair.

French See Atom Success In 1953

PARIS —(UP)— France is aiming toward production of the atomic bomb in or after 1953, if sufficient supplies of uranium are available, French scientists indicated today.

Prof. Frederic Joliot-Curie, French high commissioner of atomic energy, insisted, however, that the French government is interested in atomic energy only for peaceful purposes.

Tiny Child Falls Into Pipe Leading to Fiery Furnace

PITTSBURGH —(UP)— Fifteen-month-old Carol Ann (Peachy) Taylor fell down an air intake pipe and almost into a blazing furnace late Wednesday, but her body lodged in the bend of the pipe.

"Peachy" was rescued after 15 minutes by Crafton Fire Chief A. J. Voekler, who cut loose a section of pipe. She was covered with soot, but had only a slight leg cut.

Peachy was playing with her brother Keith, 2½, when the boy somehow pried the grill off the 18 by 20-inch opening to the air intake. Mrs. Robert Taylor, in the next room, heard her daughter cry out and rushed in to find Keith with the grill still in his hands.

"Where's Peachy?" she screamed.

"Peachy fell in the furnace," the boy replied.

The mother rushed to summon aid. Chief Voekler, who is also a furnace repairman, sped to the home and as he worked Police Chief William Utz tried to calm the screaming girl by telling her what Santa Claus was going to bring her for Christmas.

County 4-H Clubs Enroll 774 In '48

Richland county's 4-H club enrollment climbed to a record high of 774 in 56 clubs during the past summer, the county agent's annual report showed today.

There were 14 more clubs and 156 more members this year than in 1947. The 1948 enrollment included 505 girls and 269 boys.

Eight hundred and 20 projects were completed by 446 girls and 216 boys during the past year.

The report of county extension activities was released by County Agent C. N. McGrew who on Sept. 1 succeeded George B. Ganyard as agent. Ganyard went to Franklin county as agent.

The girls 4-H club work is handled by Miss Mable Spray, home demonstration agent, and the boys work by the county agent. During the year, 512 members were given health examinations. Twelve members represented the county in State Fair contests while 11 others exhibited at the fair.

In all, there were 350 demonstrations given throughout the year. Style revue demonstrations, an exhibitors' party and judging of livestock, grain and vegetables were included in the Junior Fair program.

The report points out that local people determine the over-all county program at a meeting of rural leaders.

Among the activities which had been suggested for 1948, and which were carried out were these:

To help the people of Richland county acquire a center for rural activities; to develop more leadership; to have 4-H club work mean more to more boys and girls; to provide information on farming and homemaking; and to provide additional information on soil conservation.

AGENTS BUSY

Activities of the county and home demonstration agent included information on farm and home accounts, insect and disease control, letters to crop and livestock producers, soil testing, lime and fertilizer recommendations, counsel on crop and livestock production marketing, kitchen rearrangements, child care training for young mothers and selection and construction of clothing.

Other activities of the extension office included providing plans for farm buildings and equipment, help with drainage and conservation problems, assistance in securing seedlings for reforestration and in the selection of trees for cutting, planning for improvement in pastures and meadows, and instructions on the making of slip covers, meal planning and food preparation.

In carrying out the extension work, the agent spent 230 days on adult work and 51 days on 4-H clubwork. Of those days, 163 were spent in the office, 118 in the field while 117 evenings were devoted to extension work.

Miss Spray spent 178 days on adult work and 103 days on 4-H club work. Of these, 182 days were spent in the office, 99 in the field and 98 evenings also were spent on extension work, the report said.

There were 277 meetings held during the year under the direct sponsorship of either agent. The attendance for the meetings totaled 10,595.

MAIL 15,839 LETTERS

Other statistics show that 15,839 letters and cards were mailed out; there were 3,392 office calls, 1,610 phone calls, 364 farm and home visits, and 140 news articles.

There were 3,982 bulletins distributed. Of the leaders working under the program, 611 attended 21 leader training meetings while 809 attended 57 demonstration meetings. One adult and two 4-H achievement days were held, with a total attendance of 725.

Eight Richland county women attended farm women's camp while 27 boys, 51 girls and 10 counselors attended 4-H club camp. Local leaders held 474 extension meetings with 6,024 persons attending. There were also 197 other meetings attended by 8,450 persons.

The report says that a wide range of problems must be given attention and assistance from an extension office and that the demands here were met as far as possible. The report said the main objective of the program is the improvement of rural life.

The extension service is maintained cooperatively by Ohio State university, the U. S. Department of Agriculture and Richland county commissioners.

Its two-fold function, the report says, is to help rural families and communities to recognize and define their problems and to help them to develop plans and procedures by which they may solve these problems.

HIRE MORE WORKERS

WARREN — (AP) — The Lordstown ordnance depot is adding more than 100 employes to take care of additional work. Capt. Steve Dezulovich, commanding officer, said more employes were needed because of increased storage demands due to a changeover in distribution of ordnance materials and supplies for the Second Army.

FLEES SOVIETS — Editor of Soviet-licensed newspaper, Taglische Rundschau, Count Heinrich von Einsiedel, great-grandson of Germany's famed Bismarck, is reported in western sector of Berlin in flight from Soviet sector. Several motnhs ago he was arrested in U. S. zone for possessing forged papers, and served a three-month prison sentence. (International)

Geneticist Raises Cancer Cure Hopes

NEW YORK — (UP) — Two years of experiment on mice showed today that an unknown substance in the body may be found to prevent cancer.

The report came from Dr. Leonell C. Strong, geneticist at the Yale University School of Medicine, who sees even the possibility of a vaccine against cancer.

TEACHERS GET RAISE

NORWALK — (AP) — A flat $300 annual salary increase will be given 59 Norwalk public school teachers and principals Jan. 1, School Board President John N. Orebaugh announced today.

Bus Drivers Aid Rider

LYNN, Mass. —(UP)— More than 50 Eastern Massachusetts street railway bus drivers joined to get rid of their steadiest passenger as an act of kindness.

James Callahan, 24, his legs paralyzed as a result of an electric shock, was a regular passenger for eight years as he traveled from his home to St. Mary's Church to attend mass each day.

Impressed by his courage, the drivers raised a fund and bought Callahan a television set and a motorized wheelchair.

The wheelchair cost the line a customer, but the drivers didn't think the company would mind. No longer must Callahan struggle with his crutches to board a bus. He can go to church without assistance, riding in his chair.

French See Atom Success In 1953

PARIS —(UP)— France is aiming toward production of the atomic bomb in or after 1953, if sufficient supplies of uranium are available, French scientists indicated today.

Prof. Frederic Joliot-Curie, French high commissioner of atomic energy, insisted, however, that the French government is interested in atomic energy only for peaceful purposes.

Tiny Child Falls Into Pipe Leading to Fiery Furnace

PITTSBURGH —(UP)— Fifteen-month-old Carol Ann (Peachy) Taylor fell down an air intake pipe and almost into a blazing furnace late Wednesday, but her body lodged in the bend of the pipe.

"Peachy" was rescued after 15 minutes by Crafton Fire Chief A. J. Voekler, who cut loose a section of pipe. She was covered with soot, but had only a slight leg cut.

Peachy was playing with her brother Keith, 2½, when the boy somehow pried the grill off the 18 by 20-inch opening to the air intake. Mrs. Robert Taylor, in the next room, heard her daughter cry out and rushed in to find Keith with the grill still in his hands.

"Where's Peachy?" she screamed.

"Peachy fell in the furnace," the boy replied.

The mother rushed to summon aid. Chief Voekler, who is also a furnace repairman, sped to the home and as he worked Police Chief William Utz tried to calm the screaming girl by telling her what Santa Claus was going to bring her for Christmas.

Madison Battles Another 'Name' Opponent

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

THE CLEVELAND Indians set nine new all-time baseball attendance marks last summer. . . . These were: home attendance, 2,620,627; road attendance, 1,762,399; total attendance, 4,383,026; single game, 86,288; double header, 82,781; night game, 78,382; Saturday, 81,-897; opening day, 73,163 and exhibition, 64,877. . . . Winning the pennant helped, of course, but the big force behind the crowd surge can be directly attributed to Barnum Bill Veeck. . . . It's Bill who is showing the baseball bigwigs tricks in making fans feel that baseball is their sport. . . . Bill says he's booked solidly on the banquet circuit until the opening of season 1949. . . . Howard Gorsuch, the former Senior high football guard and boxer, is an athletic specialist in the Navy. . . . Gorsuch has been transferred from Great Lakes to the New London (Conn.) sub base. . . . Dick Fashbaugh, Michigan gymnastic team captain, is quite a fellow. . . . He's an "A" student in engineering and plays four musical instruments. . . . Dick is a member of the Ann Arbor symphony orchestra. . . . To make things even more surprising, Dick had never seen a piece of gymnastic equipment until he was a soph at Michigan.

★

SPORTS WRITERS seem to have a close association between Mansfield and Massillon football players. . . . Dick Parsons, the Stuffer's No. 1 contributor, sent along a clipping from a Columbus paper. . . . It was a listing of all-Ohio choices and Ken Carver and Paul Ferguson of the Bengals were listed as Massillon players . . . Says Dick, "Look at the reaming we're getting here!!! Those guys must have Massillon on the brain."

★

RUSHING OFFENSE of the Cleveland Browns just hasn't improved. . . . The Brownie backs galloped to 2,557 yards in 1947 and hit the same number this season . . . The only difference was 479 carries in 1947 and 544 this trip . . . Jack Baldwin, center, is the only Buffalo player who has appeared in a AAFC championship game. . . . He was a New York guard in 1946. . . . In three years, Otto Graham has completed 431 passes for 7,300 yards and 67 touchdowns.

Carnival Ducats

There are a limited number of tickets available to Mansfield fans for the Lima Central basketball carnival in Lima Dec. 29, 30.

Competing teams are: Findlay, 1948 state champion; Lima Central, Greenfield McClain and Mansfied Senior high. All are among the state's best. Fans can get tickets by writing Emerson Seitz, faculty manager, Central high school, Lima.

Seventy-five cents should be enclosed for each ticket and applicants should designate which night they wish to attend.

Wolf New Head Of Skating Club

GALION—James Wolf has been elected president of the Galion Skating club. Other officers are: vice president, Paul Johnson; secretary, Marie Roelle; treasurer, Shirley Nickels.

The club is holding a Christmas party tonight in the Moose hall, and will go to Mansfield, Saturday evening for a skating party.

Rams Seek Fourth Win Of Season

By CHARLEY STINE

With a record of three upset victories in as many starts, Madison's giant-killing Rams will go after another "name" scalp tonight when they entertain Akron South.

South should be the best team the Rams have played, and, with the possible exception of Columbus Linden-McKinley, the best they will play all year. The Akron team went to the regional finals last year, has four lettermen back, and defeated Akron St. Vincent's, 45-28, in its only start so far.

Only in the matter of having played the most contests will the host Rams have superiority. South has the edge in height in Chuck Noble, a six-three forward, Howard Spicer, six-foot center, and Jack Feeman, six-one forward. Feeman is the king-pin of the outfit since he was the city's leading scorer last year with 320 points.

FOURTH LETTERMAN

Ed Taylor, diminutive guard, is the fourth letterman back from a team which won 16 of 20 games last year.

Despite this fine array of talent Akron will be weak at tournament time, since all veterans except Noble are due for mid-term graduation.

Out for their fourth upset will be the Rams' Ray "Dutch" Bader and Jim Brightbill at forwards, Joe Distl at center, and Larry Secrist and Ed Chelski at guards

CHELSKI LEADS

Chelski is the leading scorer with 40 points while Brightbill has 37 and Distl 28. Gene Riblet, the "sixth man" in the lineup, ranks fourth in scoring with 16 points, followed by Bader, 12, and Secrist, 10.

Reserve teams of the two schools will meet in the preliminary at 7:30 p. m. The Madison reserves have been showing improvement despite their three losses but can hardly be expected to enter the winner's circle tonight.

After tonight, the Rams will have a two-week vacation before resuming their cage warfare, Jan. 4, at Willard. Next home game will be Jan. 7 against Wapakoneta Blume.

'Pinkie' Ferguson To Be Honored At Columbus Banquet

Paul "Pinkie" Ferguson, all-Ohio football player, and Coach Augie Morningstar, will represent Mansfield at the all-Ohio high school football recognition banquet in Columbus tomorrow.

Ferguson, who was chosen Senior high school's "most valuable player," was awarded a first team backfield berth on the coaches' all-Ohio.

Columbus Mayor James A. Rhodes, recently re-elected AAU president, will be one of the principal speakers at the affair sponsored by the Columbus Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Tom Kohr is general chairman of the banquet to honor 22 high school stars picked by the Ohio high school football coaches' association.

The Jaycees will hand out appropriate awards to the players and coaches at the banquet tomorrow noon.

Dick Logan, Senior high's all-Ohio and all-America tackle, attended the fete in 1947.

Browns and Cardinals Feature All-Pro Football Selections

By FRANK ECK

(AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor)

NEW YORK—The Cleveland Browns of the All-American conference and the Chicago Cardinals of the National league each placed three players on The Associated Press All-Pro football team.

The Browns chosen are End Mac Speedie, Quarterback Otto Graham and Fullback Marion Motley, 238-pound Negro.

The Cardinals selected are Guard Garrard Ramsey, End Mal Kutner and Back Charley Trippi.

The remainder of the squad includes three men from the National league—Center Clyde (Bulldog) Turner of the Chicago Bears, Tackle Dick Huffman of the Los Angeles Rams and Halfback Steve Van Buren of the Philadelphia Eagles—and two from the conference—Tackle Bob Reinhard of the Los Angeles Dons and Guard Dick Barwegan of the Baltimore Colts.

14 Cities Report

While the two leagues have been at odds since the AAC came into existence three seasons ago, the players picked were chosen on the basis of reports from Associated Press sports writers in the 14 cities with major professional teams.

The Browns of course, have dominated the AAC play since the beginning, but it must be remembered that their coach, Paul Brown, has been successful wherever he operated—Massillon, O., High school, Ohio State and Cleveland.

In Otto Graham, ex-Northwestern All-American, Brown has a brilliant field general. Graham stands out today just as did Sam Luckman of the Chicago Bears and Sammy Baugh of the Washington Redskins when they were in their prime.

Graham won the AAC passing title. He completed 173 passes out of 333 for 2,713 yards and 25 touchdowns.

Motley, bull-charging fullback from Nevada, is the Browns' man down the middle. Veterans compare him with Bronko Nagurski, regarded as football's greatest fullback.

Motley led the AAC in rushing, netting 964 yards on 157 carries. He averaged 6.14 yards per carry.

Van Buren Big Gun

Van Buren has been the big gun in the second straight Eastern championship for the Eagles. The former Louisiana State star, like Motley, is tough to tackle. Van is a repeater from the 1947 team and also made the 1945 All-Pro.

Trippi, an All-American at Georgia in 1946, has the best rushing average in the National league. It was largely through his efforts that the Cards won 10 of their 11 games.

Besides Graham and Van Buren three other players repeated from 1947. They are Speedie, Turner and Huffman.

Speedie repeated as AAC pass catching champ, bagging 58 aerials for 818 yards.

Kutner Fast End

Coach Earle (Greasy) Neale of the Philadelphia Eagles believes he has a better end than Kutner of the Cards in his own Pete Pihos. However, even Greasy admits Kutner is faster

The tackles, Reinhard of the Dons and Huffman of the Rams, both are former All-America players.—Reinhard from California and Huffman from Tennessee. Reinhard, captain of his team is a bear on offense and defense. Although Huffman, an ex-Marine, scales 250 pounds he has a lot of speed.

Two former All-America aces are at the guard spots. Barwegan, who went from the Yankees to the Colts, is from Purdue and Ramsey from William and Mary.

Turner Still Tops

Turner still has priority as a center. This is the seventh time he has been chosen All-Pro pivot man. He was hard-pressed for the post by George Strohmeyer of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The line averages 221 pounds, the backfield 211.

The second team includes six conference players and five National leaguers. The Eagles, Bears, Browns and 49ers each placed two men on the second squad.

Second team ends are Pete Pihos, Eagles, and Alyn Beals, San Francisco; tackles, Fred Davis, Bears, and Lou Rymkus, Browns; guards, Bill Willis, Browns, and Charles Drulis, Bears; center George Strohmeyer, Brooklyn. The backs are Tommy Thompson of the Eagles, Sammy Baugh of Washington, John Strzykalski of the 49ers and Chet Mutryn of Buffalo.

Lexington Sub Team Smashes John Simpson

Lexington's mighty little reserve team chalked up victory no. 10 at the expense of John Simpson junior high, 35-22, yesterday afternoon at Simpson

The visiting Minutemen jumped into a 7-6 lead at the end of the first quarter, boosted it to 22-14 at the half and were never in trouble thereafter. It was the second defeat in three starts for Simpson.

The preliminary however, was a different story as the Simpson reserves ran off with a 42-13 win over the Lexington ninth graders. Bob Walker led Simpson with 12 points.

Holcomb Says ND Grid Team Can Be Defeated

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Coach Stuart K. (Stu) Holcomb of Purdue doesn't consider it possible to build up a football squad capable of meeting Notre Dame on equal terms.

In fact, "we intend to keep on playing Notre Dame indefinitely," Holcomb said at the Cathedral Latin high school football banquet last night.

Saddler Favored In Non-Title Go

NEW YORK, — (INS) — Sandy Saddler, newly-crowned featherweight champion of the world, is a prohibitive favorite to defeat Terry Young, New York lightweight, in their 10-round, non-title bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Saddler, who won the title by upsetting Willie Pep last Oct. 29, has knocked out 66 of his 97 foes. His bout tonight will be a tune-up for his tentative return title bout with Pep in the garden on Feb. 11.

Sportsmen Get Tie For League Lead

The topsy-turvy City A league was more confusing than ever today as two of yesterday's leaders have been dropped into third and fourth place and two other names are tied for first place.

Ohio Sport Center moved into a tie with idle Martin Hardware by walloping Yuncker's, 66-41. It was the third victory against no defeats for Sports Center.

Roger's Jewelry and Urschel Insurance both went down to their second defeat in five games. Roger's was edged by Penn Auto, 23-21, while Komito's won its first game by kicking defending champion Urschel's, 38-27.

WORTHLEY GETS 27

"Red" Worthley was the scoring leader of the night as he parted the nets for 27 points for Ohio Sports Center. Jack Hammett of Sport Center was runnerup with 15 points.

Ken Krupp of Penn Auto, however, was probably the hero of the session although he made only one basket. His two-pointer came in the last 30 seconds of play with the score tied and gave his team the victory.

Zahn, Schwein Lead Pioneers To 39-34 Win

Paced by Freddie Zahn and David Schwein, Johnny Appleseed junior high school hung up a 39-34 victory over the Ontario reserves yesterday afternoon on the winner's floor.

It was the second victory in three starts for Coach Jimmy Lymper's Appleseed team which overcame a 24- 23 Ontario advantage at the opening of the fourth quarter. Appleseed outscored the invaders, 15 to 10, in the final period.

Zahn dropped in six field goals and a free throw for 13 points while Schwein counted five times from the floor and twice from the foul line for 12.

The Appleseed reserves lost to the Ontario reserve second-stringers, 24-16.

Appleseed will not play again until Jan. 6 at Shelby.

Four More Fives Enter 'Y' Tourney

Four more teams have responded to the call of YMCA athletic director Johnny Fike for the Junior Independent tournament to be held beginning Dec. 27.

The Foxes, Saints, South End Tigers, and Austins joined the Pushovers and an un-named outfit on the roster, bringing to six the number enrolled.

Fike said entries of teams with players under 16 by Jan. 1 would be accepted until next Wednesday.

Senior High Strives For Fourth Win

Mansfield Senior high school will face its toughest basketball competition of the young season tonight when it battles the in-and-out Bexley Lions at Columbus.

The Tygers have romped to three straight victories, outscoring the opposition an average of 53 to 33.7 points a game. Bexley has won two and lost one, averaging 36 points to 40 for its foes. Bexley defeated Marion, 37 to 34 and Newark, 43 to 36.

Twenty-seven Tygers will make the trip for the reserve and varsity contests.

NOTHING DEFINITE

Coach Vern Hoffman still hasn't picked a definite quintet to carry the Senior high school colors. He will continue to interchange seven or eight players. However, the same crew which opened against Tiffin Columbian will probably get the call.

That would put Jimmy Anderson and Ed Schmitt at the forwards, Norb Shibinski at center and Paul Ferguson and Howie Tipper at the guards.. Anderson is the team's leading scorer with 53 points.

Last year, Senior high knocked off Bexley, 63 to 53, in a thrilling encounter. The Tygers have two players—Ferguson and Shibinski—and Bexley one—Bob Thall—who played in that game. Shibinski made 14 points, Ferguson, eight and Thall, four.

Pro Grid Imaginations Flare

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

CLEVELAND—(INS) Transfer of the national football league's Chicago Cardinals to the All-America conference seized the imaginations of AAC magnates today and suddenly represented their newest and best hope for survival.

All-America club owners, meeting in Cleveland for seirous talk and the the Browns-Buffalo Bills league championship game Sunday, were to meet in solemn session today; but not before freely discussing the possible acquisition of the Cards, with all the peace and wealth such a move implied.

The new master plan also included transfer of the national League's Boston Yanks franchise to the AAC, with the resultant dissolution of the All-America's Chicago Rockets and Brooklyn Dodgers.

That would leave each league, the national and the All-America, with eight teams, and the good chance that with a common player draft everybody would make money.

The national league, firmly convinced that All-America is about to fold, has a master plan all its own. This would take in absorption of the San Francisco and Cleveland clubs of the AAC and transfer of the Boston Yanks to the Yankee Stadium in New York, and leave the nation with one league — the National —that had 12 teams.

However, the All-America's new idea has several eminently sound points in its favor.

Observe:

1. The Cardinals, though defending champions of the national league, lost money this season, even though they won the western division title for the second straight year and are favored to win the league title again in their game with the Eagles at Philadelphia Sunday.

2. George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears of the N.F.L., anda power in national league circles, wouldn't be at all disappointed to see the Cards leave his league.

3. Drawing power of the Cards would keep the Buffalo Bills and Baltimore Colts, both young but strongly-supported AAC teams, very definitely in business.

The entire idea, of course, was predicted on the thought that the country will support two major football leagues. However, the resultant setup, if carried through, would leave just three cities—New York, Chicago, Los Angeles—with two teams each, and all three are definitely capable of supporting two teams.

Stolen Documents Bared U. S. Actions

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Stolen state department documents released by the House UnAmerican Activities committee included dispatches from U. S. ambassadors in London, Paris, Rome and Tokyo.

They were secret messages to Washington in the tense pre-war year of 1938.

Copied on a typewriter for transmission to Russian agents they read:

EUROPE

Jan. 5. (Ambassador William C.) Bullitt cabled from Paris that Leger, in charge of the foreign office in Delbos' absence, had told him that the French government was very apprehensive lest the United States become involved with Japan. Leger said that alone Britain would do nothing in the far east, no matter how insulted. But if the United States should go to war with Japan, Britain would join in and this would leave France alone in Europe. Leger said that in such an eventuality Germany and Italy would strike at once and France would be no match for them.

Jan. 12. Bullitt cabled that Prunas, new Italian charge in Paris, had told him that Germany and Italy had reached complete agreement as to Austria and that Italy did not object to Germany's taking over Austria.

Jan. 12. Bullitt cabled that Delbos had told him that Poncet reported from Berlin that the Germans would agree to a limitation of production of military planes and that in general prospects for a French-German rapprochement were encouraging.

★

From ambassador to London Joseph P. Kennedy to the state department:

I have just finished an hour's talk with (Dino) Grandi (Italian ambassador to London) who recently returned from Italy.

First, he is vitally concerned regarding America's opinion of Italy. Second, he informed me that the agreement with England will positively go through within the next few weeks; the Spanish situation will not stop the agreement, settlement of that problem being taken care of. Third, he impressed me with the fact that the Italians will heave a sigh of relief on making this deal with England which will relieve them of being so closely identified with Germany.

In answer to Moffat's (J. Pierpont Moffat, chief of division European affairs in 1938) letter to me of March 14, I would say that in my opinion the successful conclusion of this agreement would definitely weaken Italy's connection with Germany.

Grandi was not particularly flattering in his opinion of Goering. Hitler we did not discuss. He is very impressed with Chamberlain and says he has enjoyed the last month in England more than the previous five and a half years because of the prime minister's attitude."

On March 29, Kennedy, (Joseph P.) U. S. ambassador to London, cabled about the British desire to proceed without delay with discussions under paragraph 3 of article 25.

On March 30 Hull (then secretary of state) replied by cable agreeing to proceed at once with the discussions under paragraph 3 of article 25.

★

March 28. Phillips (William Phillips), U. S. ambassador at Rome, quoted the communique in the Informazione Diplomatica on Chamberlain's speech. In referring to the communique's warning against French intervention in Spain, Phillips said:

"There is every evidence that the Italian government is seriously preoccupied over the possibility that France may intervene actively in behalf of the Spanish government forces.

On such indication is the effort to speed up negotiations with Great Britian, two conversations between Ciano and Perth having taken place over the weekend."

FAR EAST

Jan. 31. Hull cabled Phillips to investigate fully the report of the U. S. consul at Milan that 80 Italian aircraft and 50 airmen had been ordered to Japan. Hull said that President Roosevelt was disturbed that a number of Italian aircraft and especially aviators of the regular or reserve forces should be ordered to Japan. Hull added that if Phillips' investigation showed any fasis for the report he would probably ask Phillips to make a direct inquiry of Italy.

Feb. 2. (Joseph C. Grew, Ambassador to Japan) Grew cabled from Tokyo that the British ambassador (Sir William Craigie) informed him that war supplies to China through Hong Kong had been furnished by countries according to the following percentages: Germany 62 per cent; Italy 21 per cent; France 12 per cent; and Great Britain three per cent.

The remainder were divided between Belgium and the United States. Craigie had told Grew that he took particular pleasure in communicating these figures to the Japanese vice minister for foreign affaris.

★

March 28. Grew cabled that the commercial attache had been informed by an official of the Bank of Japan of the following gold shipments (presumably to the U. S.): 200,000,000 yen on March 27 via the Kinkwa Maru, 20,000,000 yen via the Komaki Maru on April 8 and 30,000,000 yen via the Titibu Maru on April 8.

$U. S. marine detachment at Tientsin reported by naval radio on March 28 as follows:

"During 21-28 March approximately 700 Japanese wounded or sick evacuated via Chinwangtao. No unusual troop movements. Hospital ship unloading supplies, nature undetermined."

Jan. 22. (Nelson T.) Johnson, U. S. ambassador to China cabled from Hankow the following message from (Col. Joesph W.) Stilwell, U. S. military attache, for the war department:

"One Military situation Yangtze valley unchanged. Death of Liu Hsiang and appointment of Chang Chou as Szechwan governor gives central government better hold on Szechwan. Japanese making progress toward Hsuchowfu along railroad from south. Believe Hsuchowfu will not hold long.

"Two. Reliable report from foreigner with long experience in northwest indicates heavy traffic on Lanchow highway. Estimates 1500 heavy Russian trucks operating hauling munitions. Daily arrivals Lanchow 100 to 200 trucks. He has counted 400 in one day saw four Russian tanks and over 50 Russian planes at Lanchow on Jan. 1.

Highway being surfaced throughout. Large gangs Chinese laborers working. 700 Russian mechanics, chauffeurs, etc. quartered in village near Lanchow handling transport. Individual truck capacity four tons. Russians are chauffeurs west of Lanchow; only Chinese chauffeurs east thereof."

Jan. 29 (Walter H.) Sholes, U. S. consul at Milan cabled that "80 Italian aircraft and 50 Italian airmen, some recently returned from Spanish front, it would appear, have been ordered to Japan. Embassy was informed aircraft shipments January 25 last. My British colleague called upon me today. His figures place aircraft sent at 50."

Feb. 9, 1938. Yokohman reports that Mr. Aikawa is scheduled to sail from Japan on the M. S. Shichibu Maru February 24 for the United States. According to a newspaper item in the Japan Advertiser Mrs. Aikawa hopes to raise $300,000,000 in the United States.

Another Japanese newspaper item states that the success of Mr. Aikawa's efforts in the United States depends upon Mr. Aikawa's ability and upon the attitude of the American government toward his venture.

Uncle Sam's Pilots Testing Super-Planes at Muroc Base

MUROC, Cal. — (UP) — America's fighting planes of the future are flying for the first time in the hot, thin air above a closely-guarded base here on the lonely Southern California desert.

Eleven miles long and five-and-a-half miles wide, Muroc Dry Lake forms the largest natural landing field in the world. Before World War II, speed-happy "hot-rod" drivers flocked here for auto races against time on the smooth surface.

But Muroc has changed since 1941. The tiny bombing range of World War I has expanded until Muroc Air Force base is Uncle Sam's largest flight test center.

The hangars and engineering buildings today house some of the nation's prime secrets in supersonic jet and rocket plane developments. The "hot-rods" have been moved five miles away to Rosamond Dry Lake, and residents of the few nearby towns have grown accustomed to seeing test flights of craft that seem to be straight out of a cartoon fantasy.

Only about 70 miles from Los Angeles, the nation's aircraft production center, Muroc has the perfect geographic and atmospheric setup for speed flying. The current world speed record of 670.95 m. p. h. was set here last Sept. 15 by Maj. Richard L. Johnson in a production model of the North American's jet F-86. Two other previous marks were knocked off last summer at Muroc.

Young Capt. Charles Yeager first cracked the sonic barrier here a year ago in the air force's first rocket ship, a Bell X-1. Designed to hit 1,700 m. p. h., the plane is still being tested but the air force doesn't say how fast it's going these days. It probably has done at least 900 miles an hour.

Other models now undergoing tests at Muroc include the Northrop YB-49 jet Flying Wing, the blood-red Douglas 4-558 Skystreak (former speed record holder), D-558-2 Skyrocket, XB-43 and XF2-DL for the Navy; Curtiss-Wright XF-87; McDonnell XF-85 and XF-88; North American XB-45 and XF-86, and Northrop F-89.

Such standbys as the Lockheed F-80 Shooting Star and the Douglas C-47 cargo plane are Muroc graduates. The F-80 is being tested now with the "flying stovepipe" ram-jet engine theoretically capable of 5,000 m. p. h.

Along with stepped-up security regulations, a post-war expansion boom has hit Muroc. Officials plan to move the railroad that now bisects the hard-baked adobe lake and double the base's present 250 square miles.

Sport Champions Honored At Unique Toledo Banquet

By FRITZ HOWELL

TOLEDO—(AP)—Two dozen of America's sports champions had new movie cameras today—gifts received at probably the most unusual banquet ever held.

Unusual and unique it was, for not a speech was made as the top men in football, baseball, basketball, hockey, auto racing and several other sports were honored last night.

Robert A. Stranahan, president of the Champion Spark Plug company and dad of Frankie Stranahan, golfdom's muscle man champion of Britain, Canada and Mexico, was host at the affair. It attracted the cream of the nation's newspaper and radio talent as mere onlookers.

LOST IN CROWD

Lost in the crowd of some 250 were such notables as Billy Southworth, manager of the National league champion Boston Braves; A. B. (Happy) Chandler, commissioner of baseball; Harold (Red) Grange, Illinois' "Galloping Ghost"; Mike Peppe, Ohio State and Olympic swimming-diving coach; Toots Shor, the robust and highly-publicized tavern owner from New York; Carl Snavely, North Carolina coach whose team will play in the Sugar Bowl come New Year's day; Wilbur Shaw, several times winner of the 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway race; Will Harridge, American league president; Ohio's Governor Tom Herbert; Tony Hulman, president of the Indianapolis Speedway, former Yale track and football great and a member of the U. S. tuna fishing team which this year won the international trophy for the first time; plane racer Roscoe Turner, and a flock of others equally well known.

They were not even introduced.

The spotlight played only on the 24 champions.

JIM KEEPS QUIET

Jimmy Conzelman, Chicago Cardinal coach whose club plays Philadelphia Sunday for the National Football league title, was toastmaster. Even Jimmy, one of the nation's top after-dinner spielers, didn't make a speech. He called the champions, one by one, handed them their movie camera, and pointed them to a chair on the stage.

The champions, worth untold dollars if sold on the open market and who between them hold most of America's sports laurels, squirmed in bashfulness as the guests looked them over.

The champions:

BASEBALL: Boudreau, most valuable player in the American league; DiMaggio, Yankee home run hitter; Stan Musial, National league most valuable player from St Louis; Johnny Sain, star hurler of the Boston Braves

FOOTBALL: Charlie Trippi, star back of the Chicago Cardinals, Bob Chappuis, ditto with the Brooklyn Dodgers; Dick Rifenburg Michigan's All-American end; and Charlie Justice, All-America halfback from North Carolina.

BASKETBALL: George Mikan, Minneapolis Lakers, leading scorer in the basketball association of America, Bob Kurland, seven foot star of olympic champion Phillips Oilers.

GOLF: Hogan, Lloyd Mangrum, amateur champion Willie Turnesa, and Frank Stranahan.

TENNIS: Professional champion Jack Kramer, and Davis Cupper Schroeder

TRACK AND FIELD: 17-year-old Bob Mathias, olympic decathlon king.

BILLIARDS: Willie Hoppe

POWERBOAT RACING: Guy Lombardo.

AUTO RACING: Myron Four.

HOCKEY: Buddy O'Connor, New York Rangers' winner of the most valuable player and sportsmanship award in National Hockey league.

BOWLING: Ned Day.

SWIMMING AND DIVING: Bruce Harlan and Miller Anderson, both of Ohio State.

Cub Pack Gets Charter

Cub Scout Pack 6 of South Boulevards held its annual Christmas party last night at the YMCA with approximately 30 members

Howard Stouffer, Mansfield Cub commissioner, presented the Cub Scout charter to Arthur Stanley in the absence of Earl Roberts, chairman of the Cub committee. K. F. Markley, P. F. Bachman and Stanley were sworn in as committee members for the coming year.

Don Cram, cubmaster, presented service stars to Roger Thaler, Charles Bachman and Kenneth Markley. Paul Wolfe received his Wolf badge.

A gift exchange was held by the members of the pack and a Christmas program was given with Roger Thaler, Kenneth Markley, Donald Stanley, Richard Sundell, Bruce Appleby, and Bud Albers participating.

Bruce Appleby was inducted into Pack 6 as a new Cub member.

Next Thursday evening members of the Pack will meet at the South Boulevards Council house and attend the Christmas program to be given by the South Mansfield Lutheran Mission.
